Foreword

We, as teenagers of the twentieth century, are experiencing life in an era characterized by a cataclysmic technological development. Our late Holy Father, Pope Pius XII, has said that while our generation can be justly proud of this development we can never forget that these advances, though resulting from human talent and toil, are possible only because God has given man a dignity above the other works of His hands and has made all things subject to him. Man has been given the whole world and with it the task of "achieving a perfect harmony in it and maintaining it". But, we see about us a constant fight for power and achievement coupled with meaningless intolerance and bitter prejudices. In his quest for power and material gain, man seems to forget that the tools he uses—the forces and beauty of nature—come from the creative Hands of God, the Father of all mankind, for all mankind.

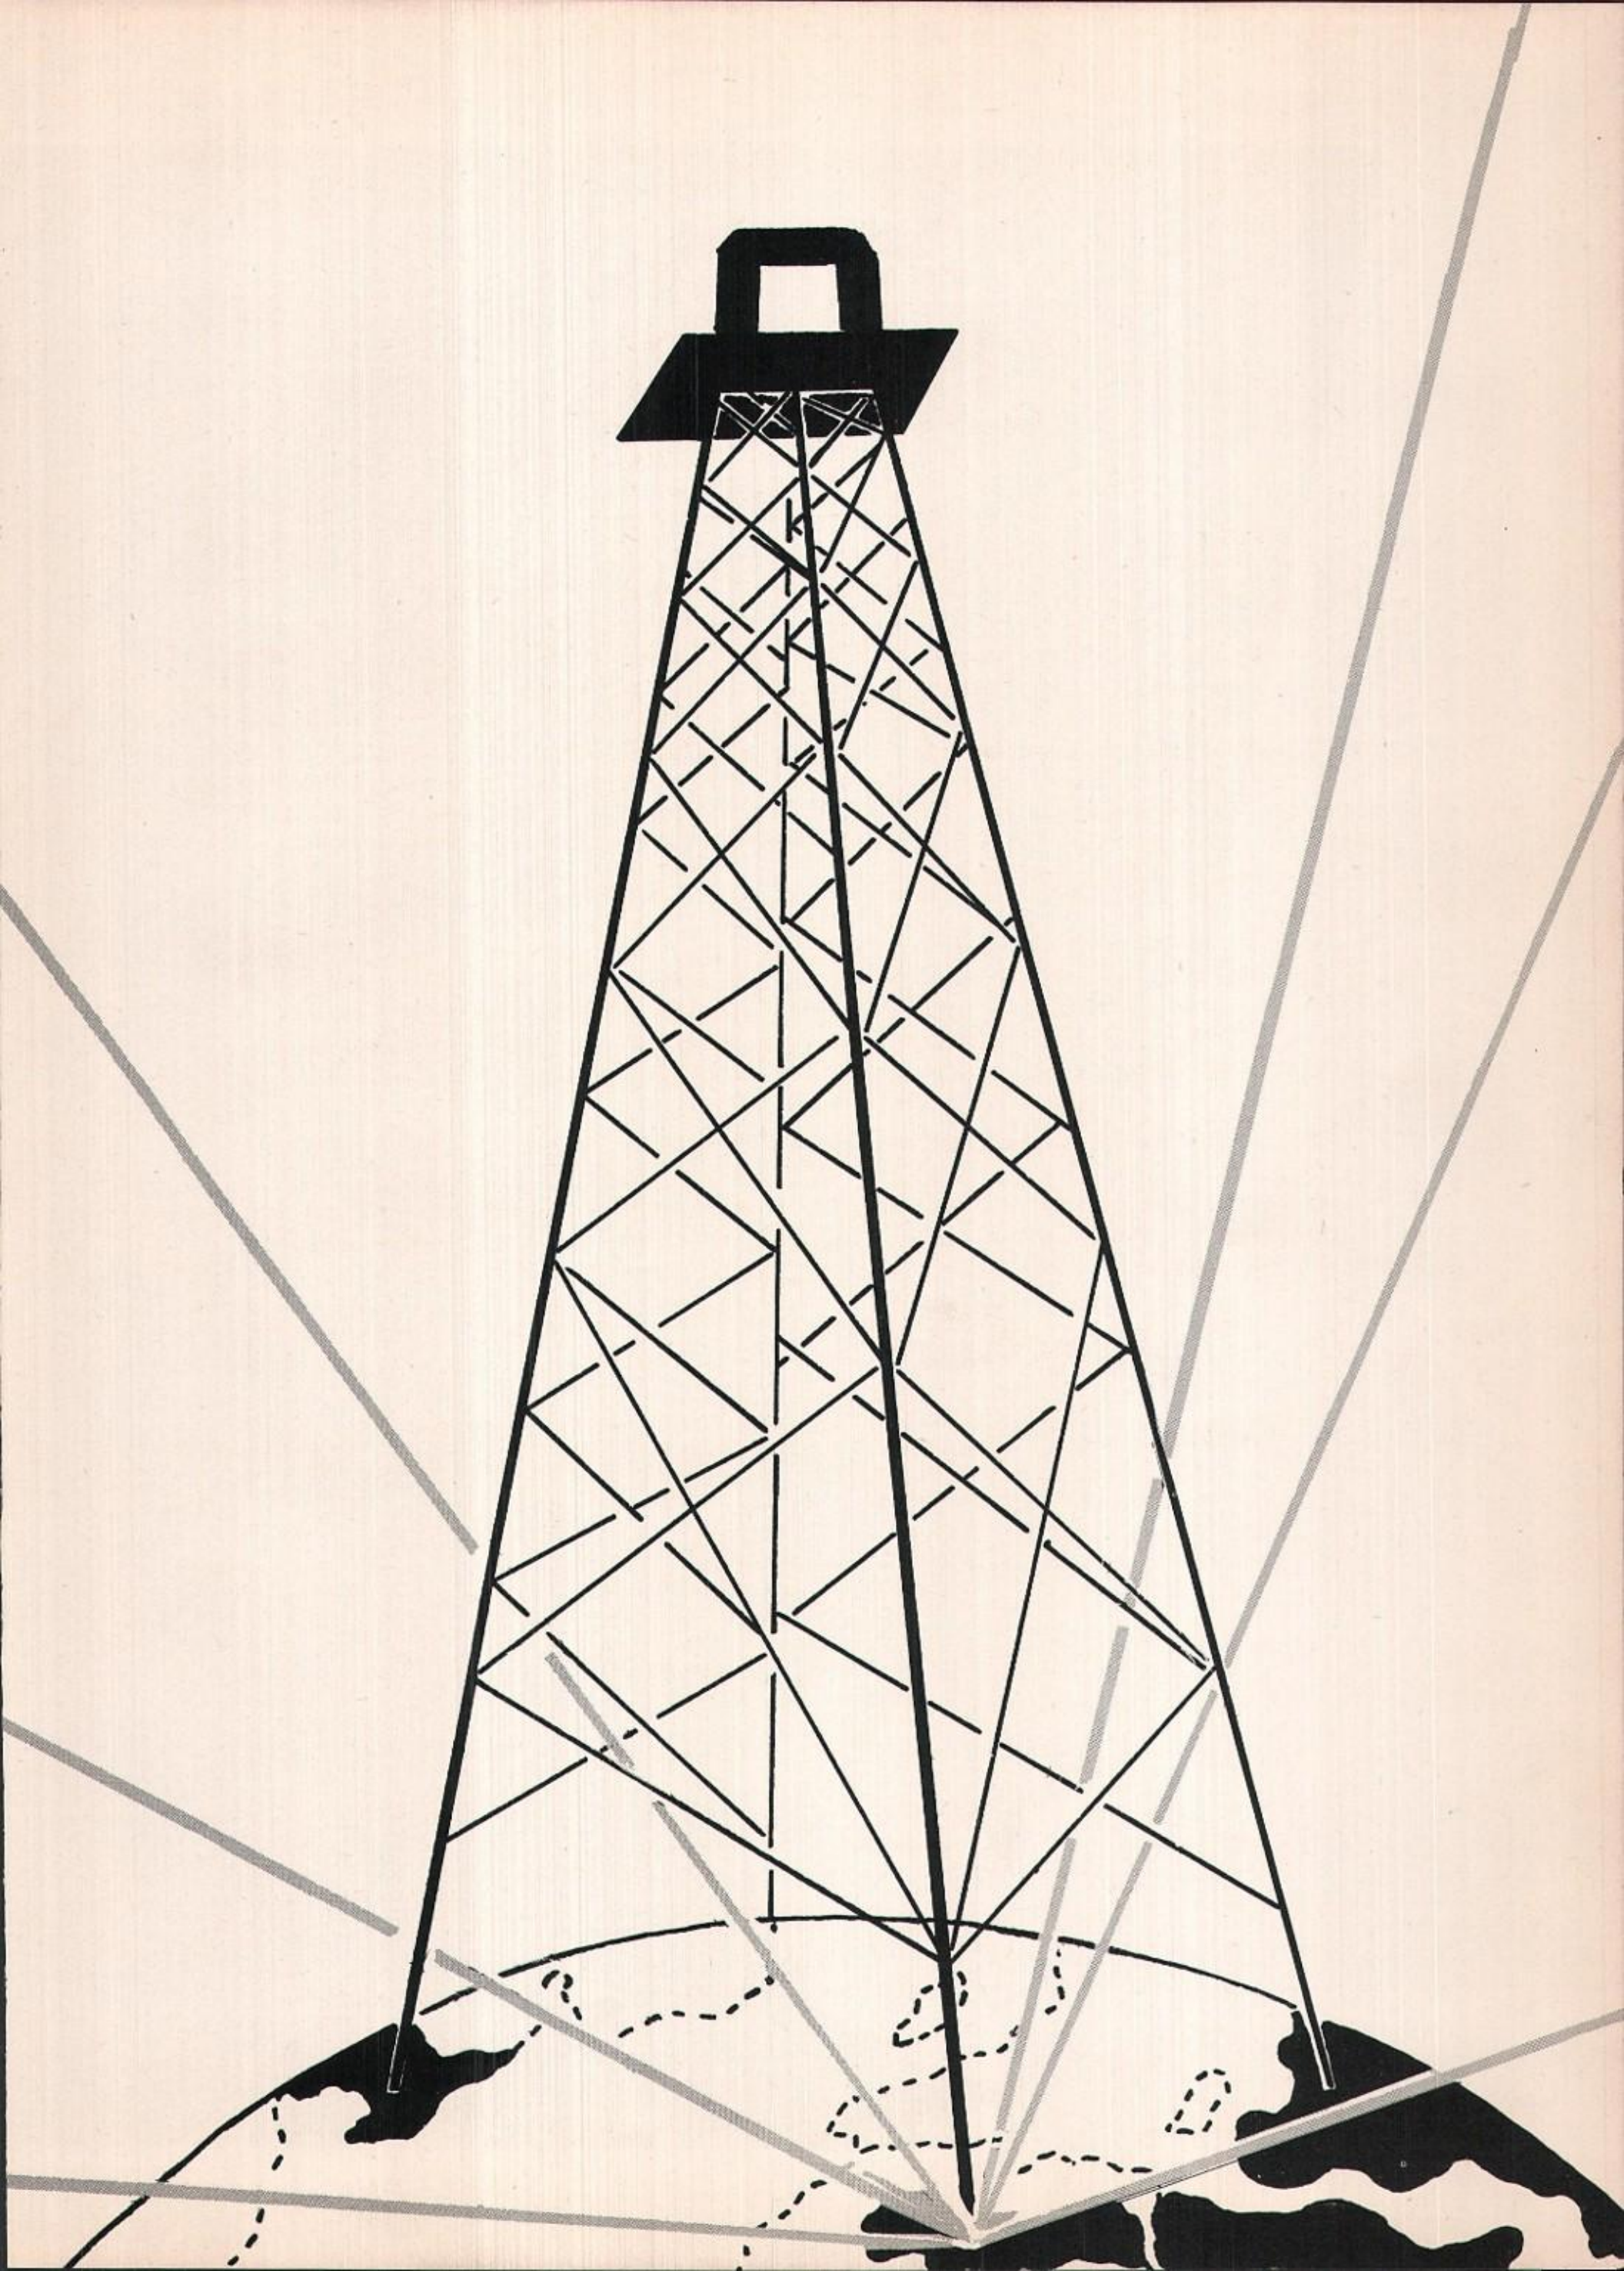

The 1959 PHILOTHEAN Staff has kept this unfortunate problem of man's forgetfulness in mind in depicting their idea of "Brotherhood through the Sharing of the Gifts of God". Our heavenly Father did not give these gifts to a chosen few, but wished them to be equally distributed to the waiting, open hands of the men of all races, all religions, and all classes as aids to the achievement of their eternal happiness.

Here, at Providence, we see brotherhood practiced daily. Not only do P. H. S.'ers practice "togetherness" in classroom activities through participation and discussion, but also in all extra-curricular and outside activities. Their God-given talents are willingly and wholeheartedly shared—scholastically, culturally, spiritually. In viewing these activities, we see how brotherhood and true Christian love are one.

"Love is long-suffering; love is kind, and is not envious; love does not brag; it is not conceited; it is not ill-mannered; it is not self-seeking; it is not irritable, it takes no note of injury; it is not glad when injustice triumphs; it is glad when the truth prevails. Always to hope; always to be patient. Love will never end."

1 Corinthians, 4—8.

Loris Juenke

Dedication

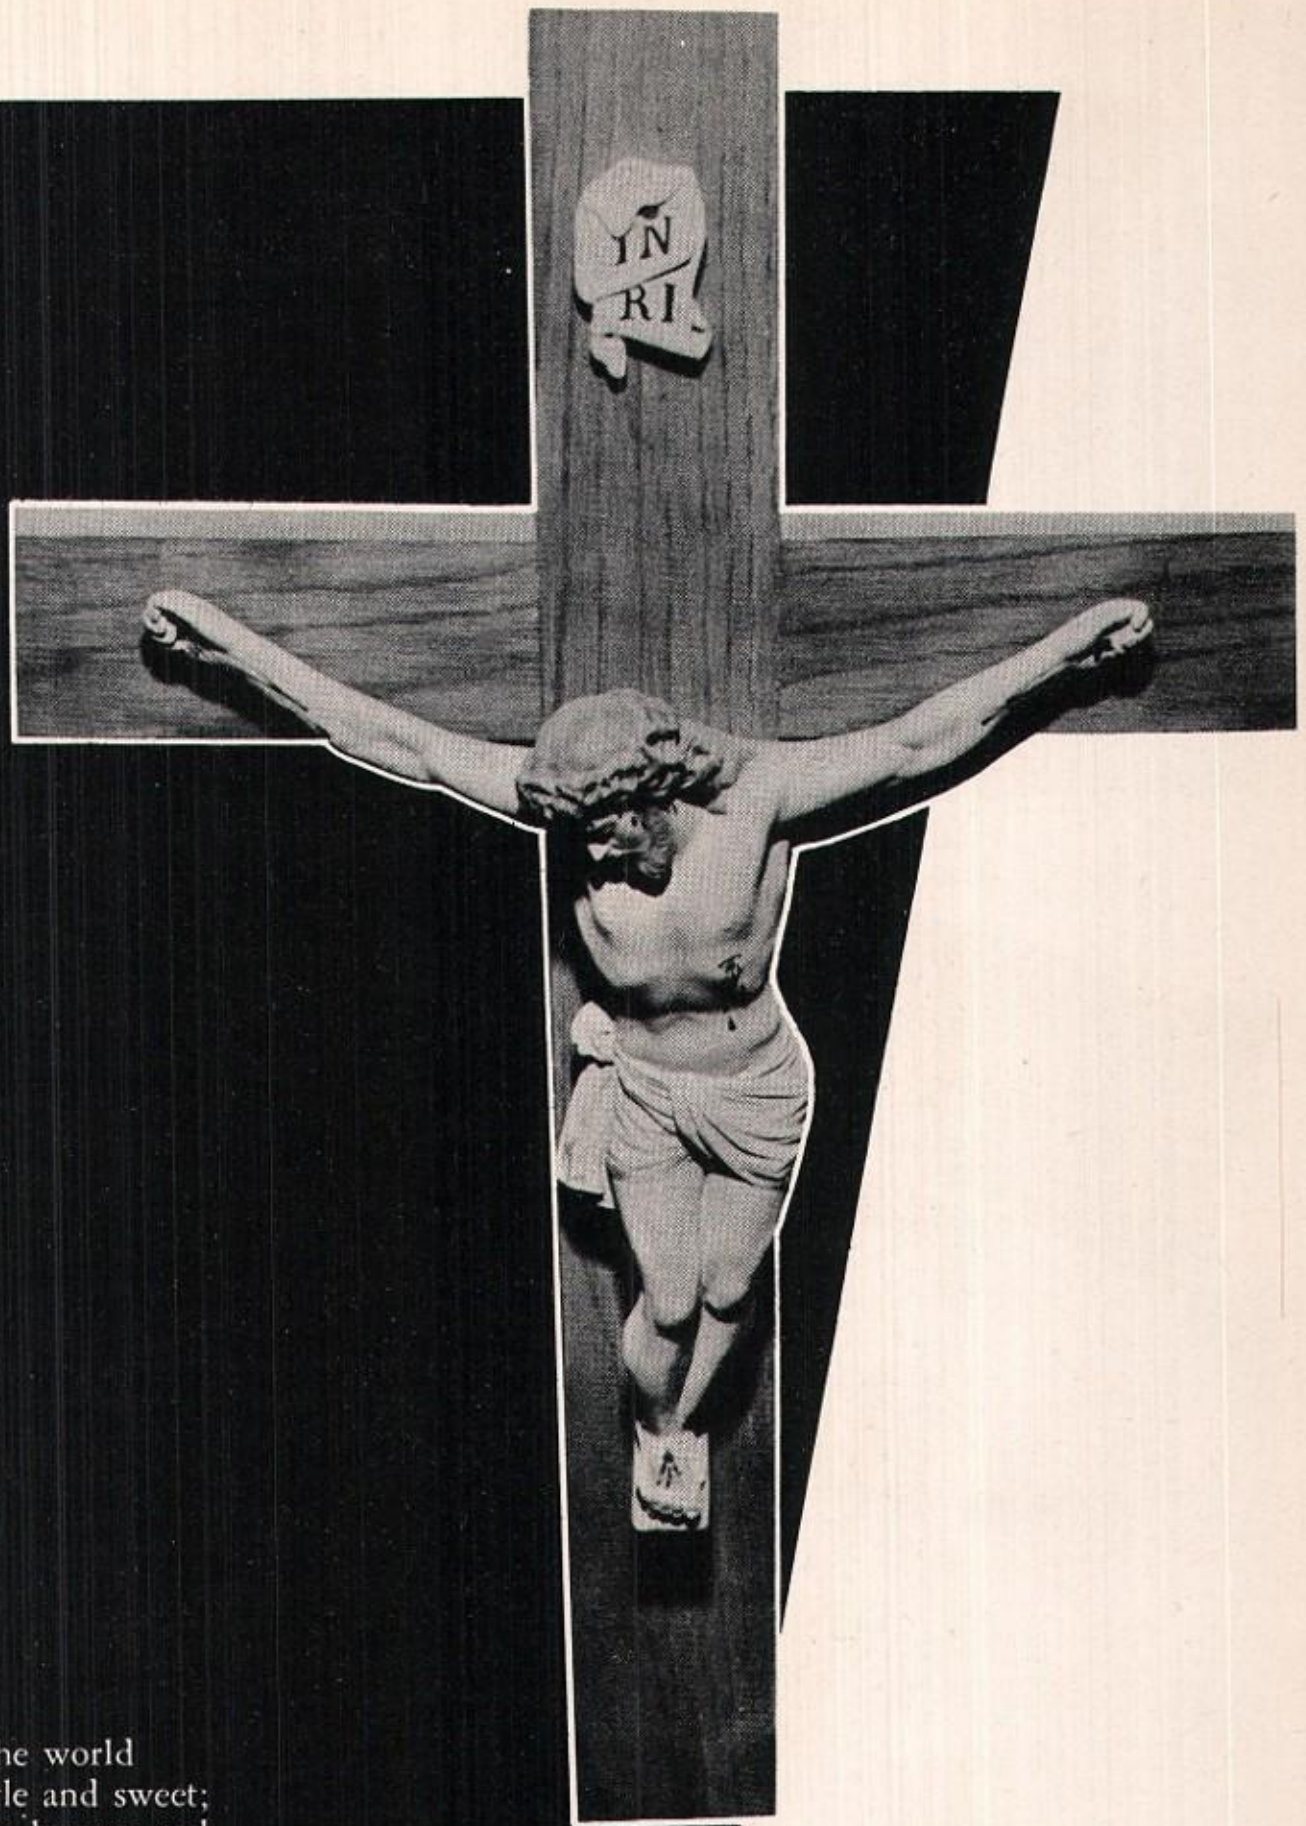

O Christ Crucified,
This book we offer You;
With our hopes, prayers, works,
Our disappointments, too.

You Who died for us
With bruised arms nailed wide,
To embrace each and every nation,
Enfold every race inside.

You Who died on hard wood
With crown upon Your Head;
You Who loved all men,
For them to hang there—dead.

You Who died with royal mark
Of King of Men in side;
A wound so universal,
That in it all can hide.

You Who gave the world
A Mother so gentle and sweet;
She who gave You human garb,
And wept at Your pierced Feet.

Given us by God, Our Father, as
The most precious Gift, His Son;
To be shared and loved by all,
To die for everyone.

You Who by Your death,
Gave life to all men;
Help us to live together
Ever as brothers. Amen.

Campus Shots

From the hollow stillness of her corridors to her manifold outward beauties, Providence reflects the love of God in every aspect.

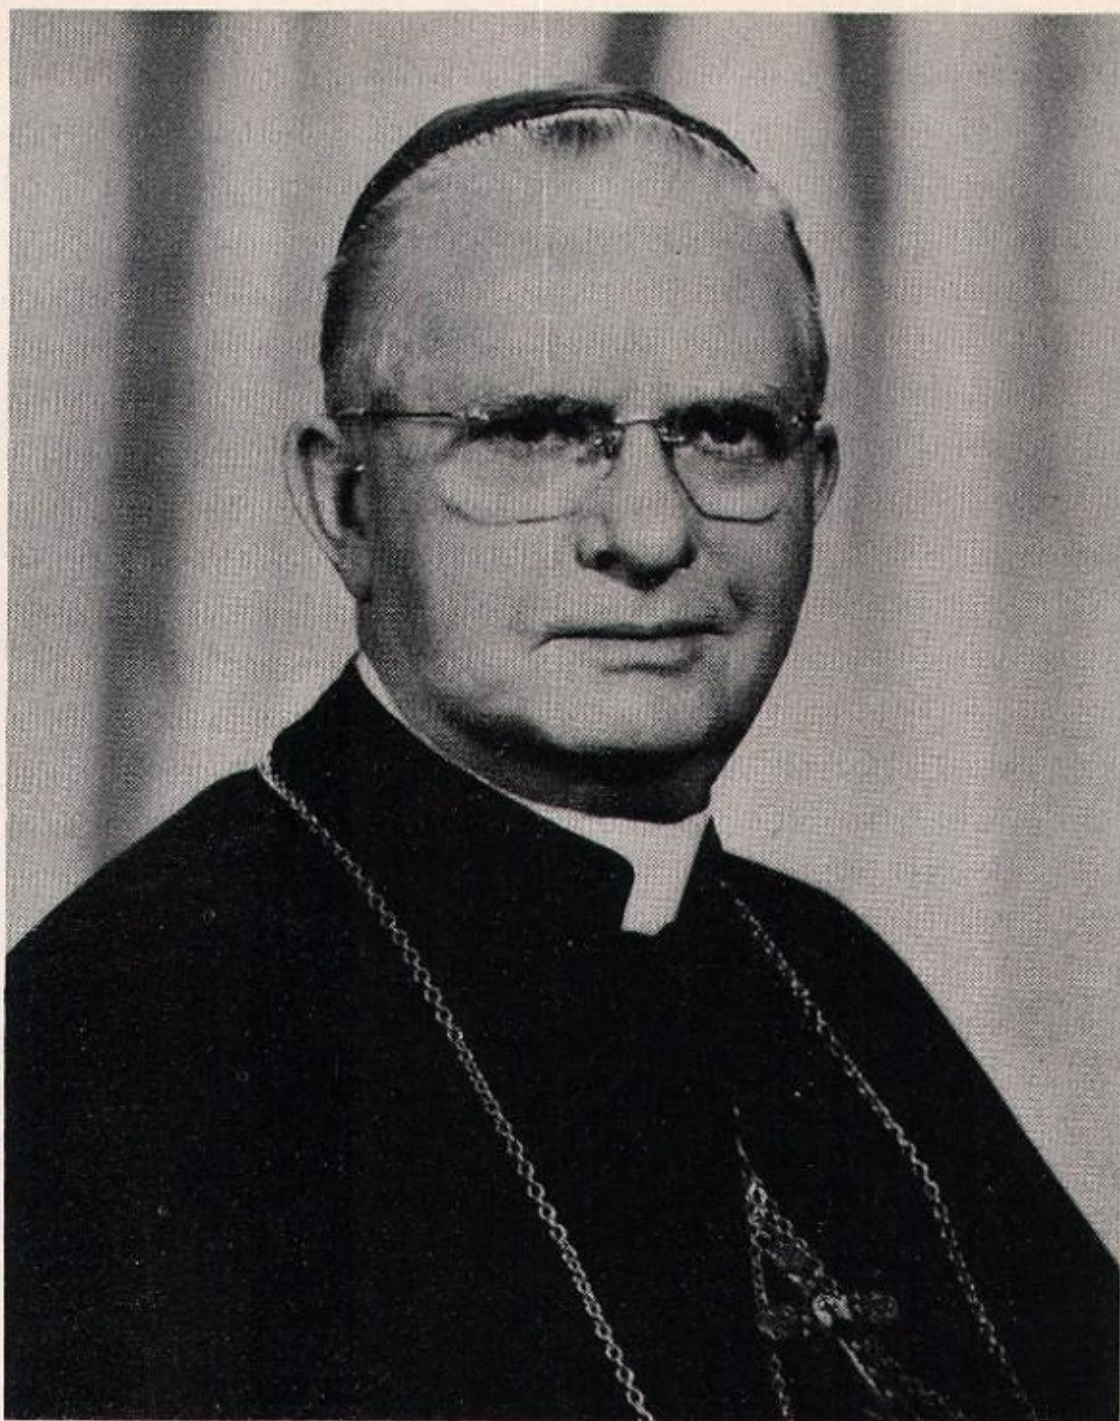

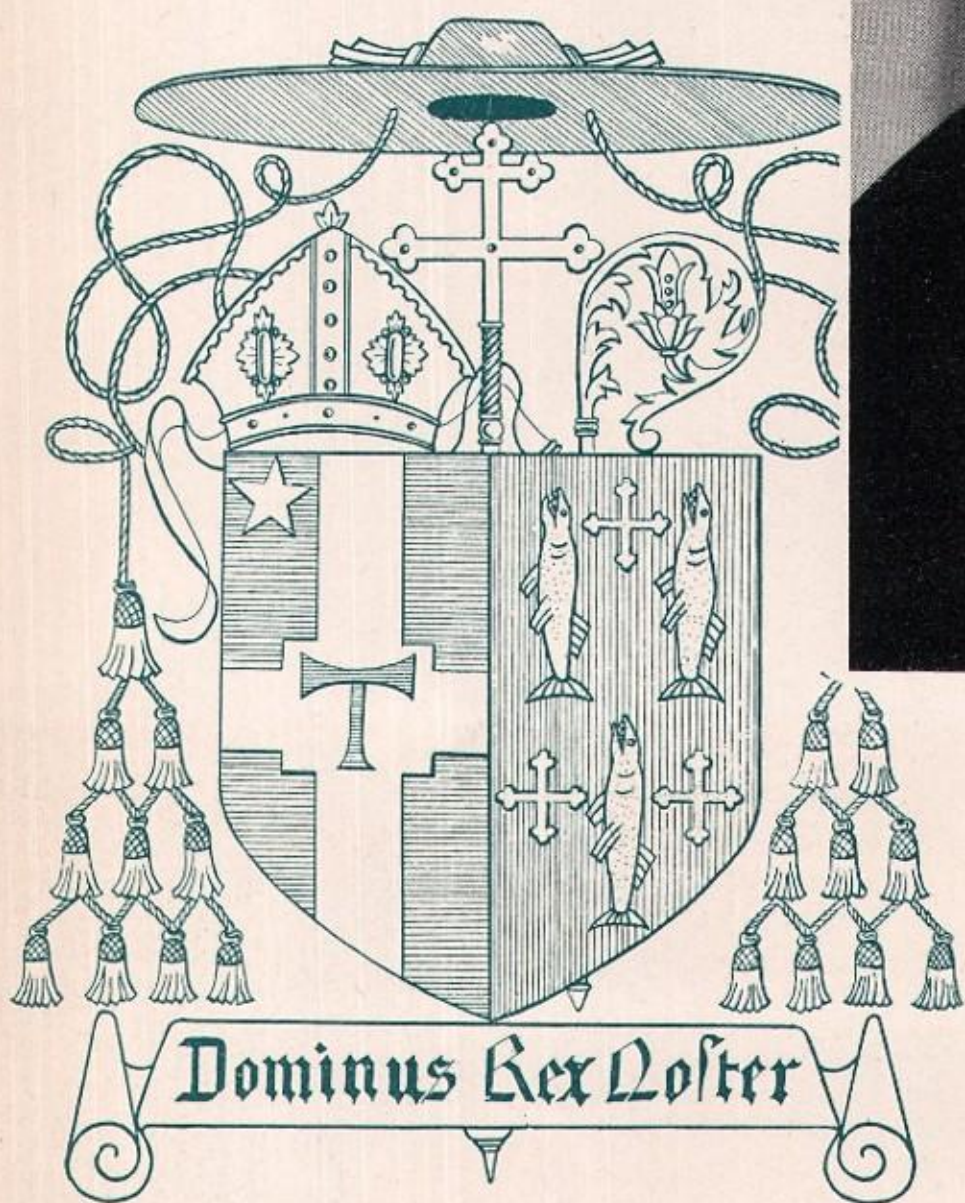

Entering the new Music Conservatory proves quite a thrill for music students, Sandra Karam, Jerry Von Schwanitz, and Donna Kaupert.

Sister Florence Marie conducts a tour of the newly acquired Marian Music Conservatory for Reverend Mother M. Amata, Superior General of the Sisters of Divine Providence, and Mother M. Angelique, Dean of Our Lady of the Lake College.

Brotherhood

Father James P. Moore
Religion IV,
Sodality Director

Sister Florence Marie, superior of the convent, teaches math and oversees lay work.

The faculty of Providence High School, our teachers and personal friends, combine their efforts with Christ's to develop and inspire their students in Brotherhood.

"That takes care of this year's activities—I think!"

Early in September, Sister Maureen and Sister Florence Marie make plans for the coming months.

Sister Maureen, principal and registrar, teaches math and sponsors the Student Council.

"My! the Romans surely traveled around!"

Sister St. Rita, teacher of Latin, English, and sponsor of National Honor Society, shows Kathy Gruen the many rugged miles the Romans had to cross.

Mrs. Stimel, P.E. teacher, F.T.A. and G.A.A. sponsor, tosses up basketball for Mary Jo Nitsch and Nell Faubion, to get the game started.

Faculty

"Doesn't that look like ambrosia and nectar, Sister?"

Sister Liberta, homemaking and English teacher, F.H.A. sponsor, and co-sponsor of P.H.S. alumnae, examines a tempting dish prepared by Marcelline Love, Antoinette Svatek, and Pam Sullivan.

"Now, it's ready for the printer."

Sister Rose Annelle and Pat Grimes check final copy for the Student Directory. Sister is a business teacher.

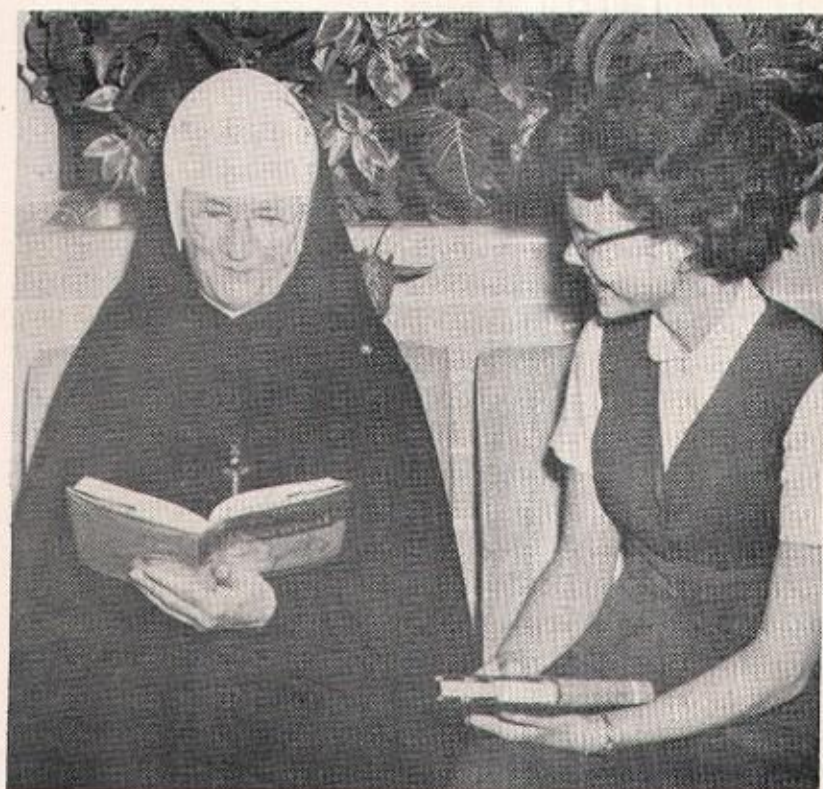

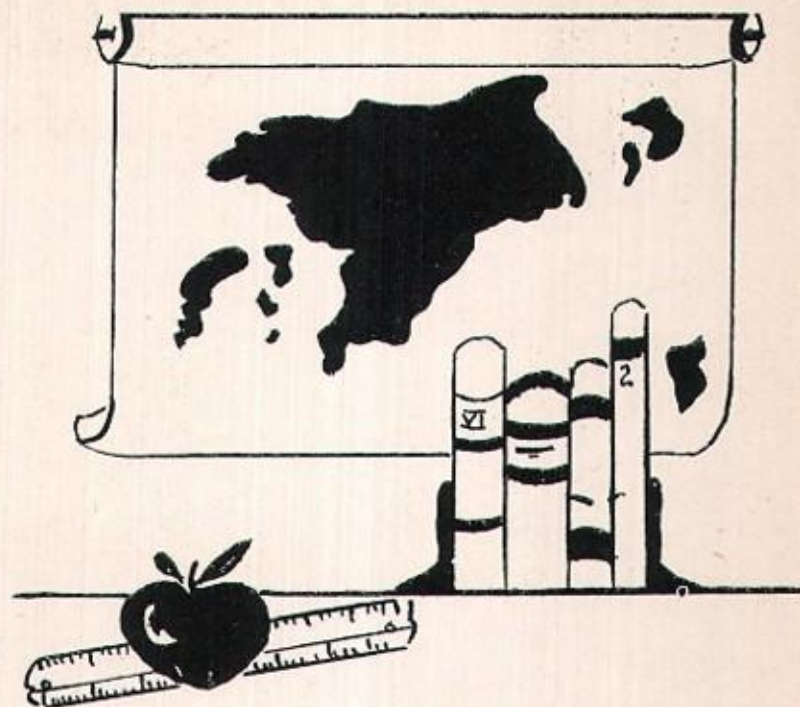

"British diction isn't really difficult, is it?"

Sister Thecla, business and journalism teacher, Pro Vue sponsor, and senior play direction, sets plans for "The Barretts" with Kathleen Robertson, assistant director.

"See how easy!"

Sister Angelina, homemaking teacher, F.H.A. sponsor and alumnae co-sponsor, teaches Sylvia Godoy and Jeannine Vistuba some new tricks with the sewing machine.

"Yes, Thurber does have a serious vein!"

Sister Digna, English teacher, gives Ruth Smith tips on good reading.

"The key is proper fingering!"

Sister Lauriana, Music I teacher and co-sponsor of Tri-M, explains the instruments of the orchestra.

"Yes, this is a good choice."

Sister Agnes Ann, teacher of homemaking and F.H.A. sponsor, checks grocery list for Mary Jane Boring, Minerva Garza, and Helen Polanco.

"Softly now!"

Sister Agnes Rose, director of Marian Choristers and co-sponsor of Tri-M, practices with the Marian Choristers for the operetta.

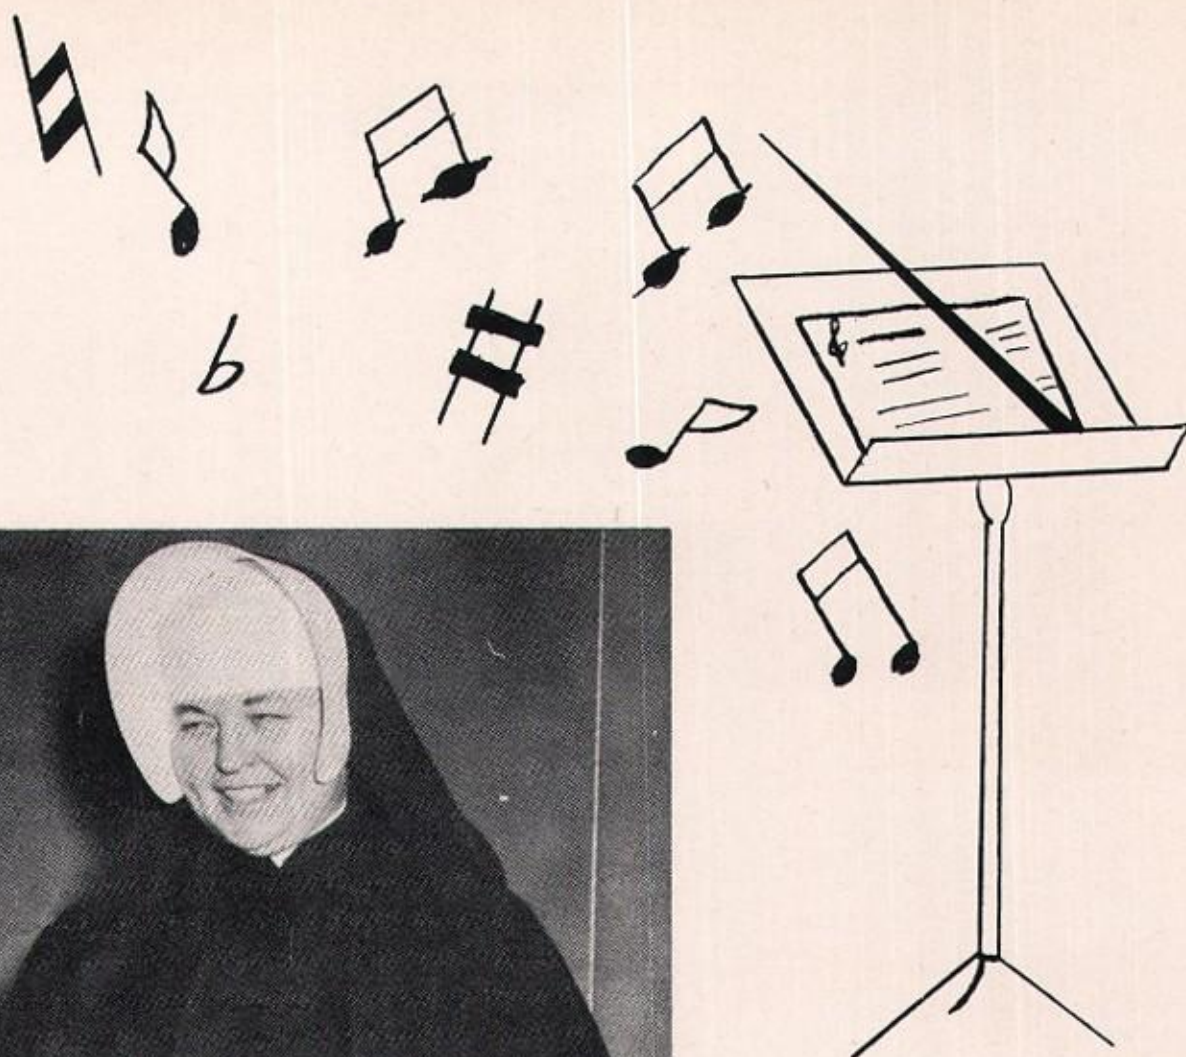

"Perfect timing?"

Sister Mary Michael, teacher of Spanish and speech, and Sodality moderator, records a timing in speech.

"This I like!"

Showing corsages made by the art class and Paletteers is Sister Odilia, homemaking and art teacher and Paletteer sponsor.

"This you will like!"

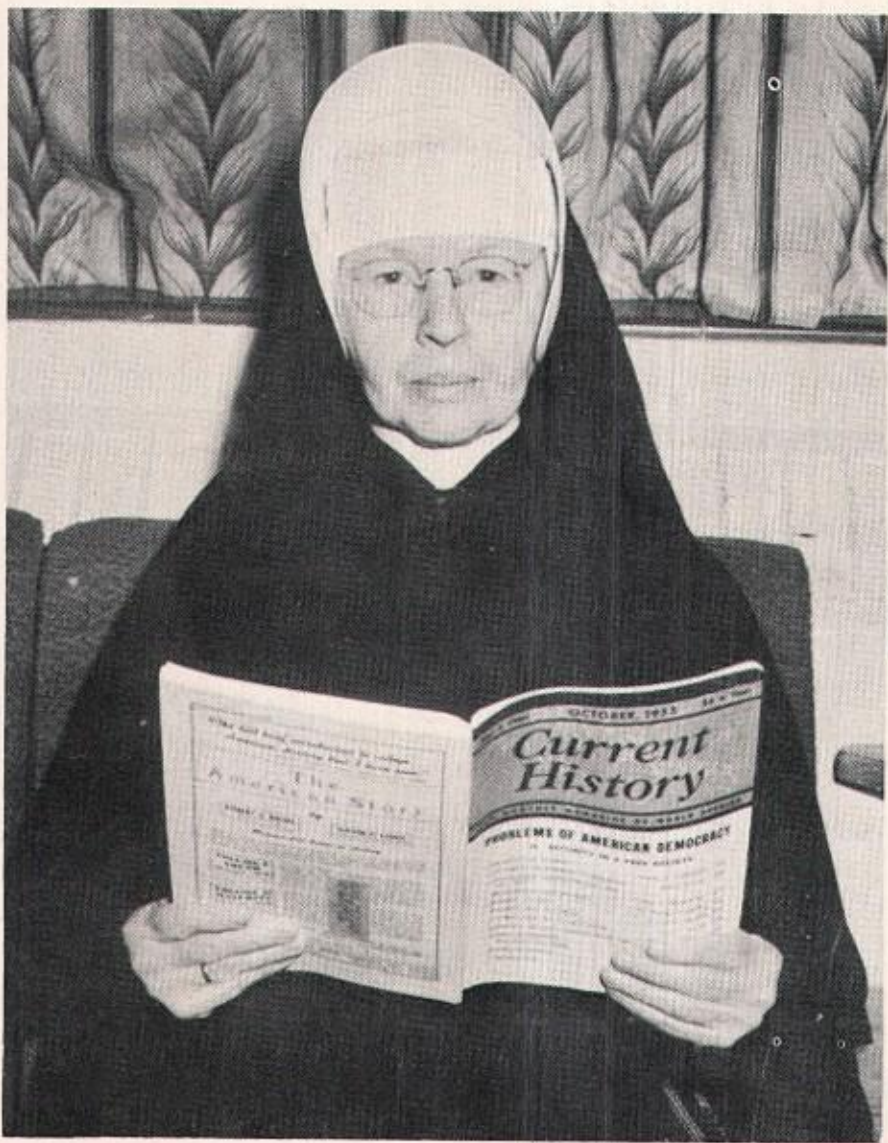

Sister Mary Patrick, English and Spanish teacher and C.C.D. sponsor, creates the proper atmosphere for Spanish class.

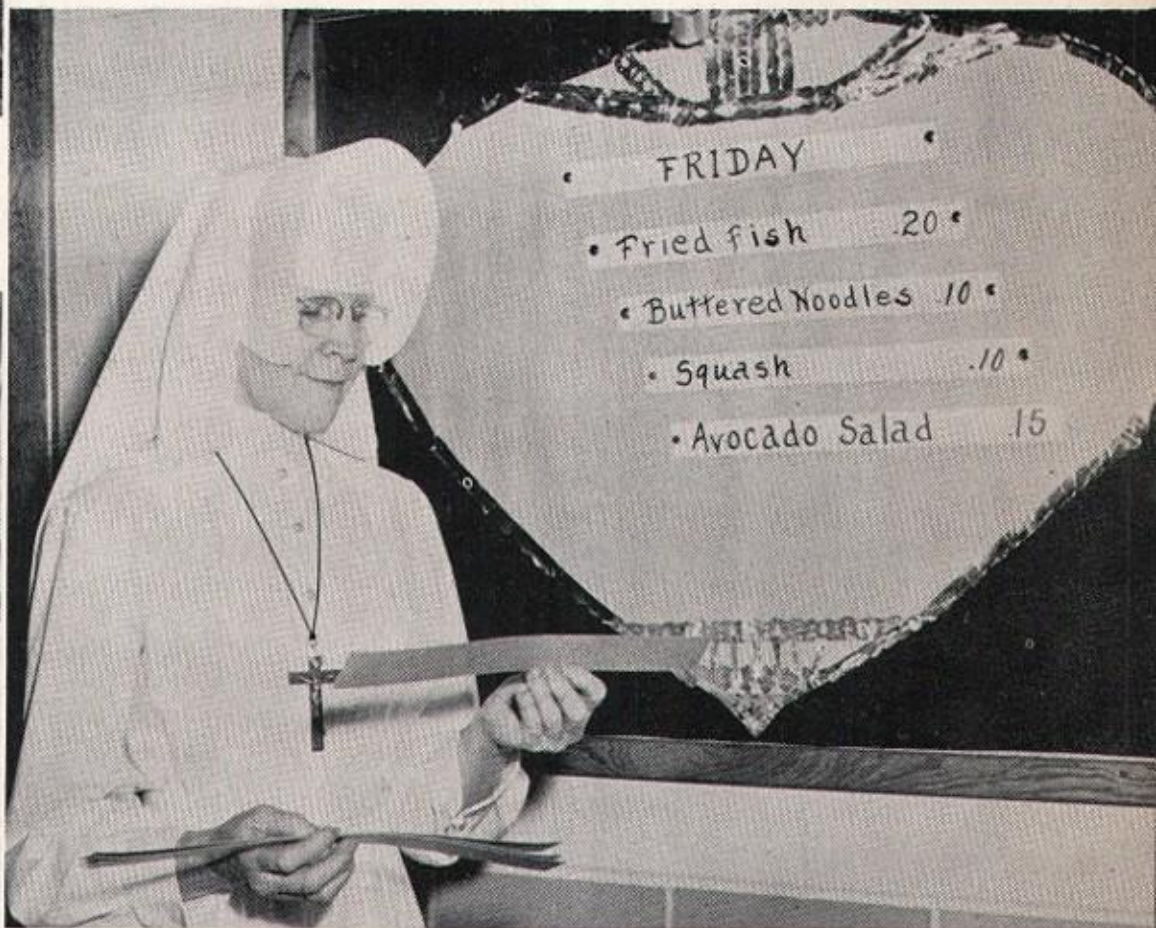

Faculty

"... And the babe was born and wrapped in swaddling clothes."

Sister Juliana, English and history teacher and Red Cross sponsor, reads her class the favorite of all Christmas stories—St. Luke's gospel.

Sister Paul of the Cross, American history, keeps up with recent history.

Checking over the menu is Sister Adeline, cafeteria manager.

"Girls, please be careful. . ."
...cautions Sister Ann Rita, chemistry teacher, worriedly.

"Sister, are you sure that I put it in wrong?"

Sister Agnes Leonard, business teacher, assures Judy Zepeda that her typing ribbon was upside down.

Sister Romulus, music teacher, smiles approval as Sharon Beck shows progress.

Sister Mary Valerian takes charge of the tuition and fees.

"I didn't know there is so much to a dictionary!"

Sister Martha Anne, English teacher, librarian, T.A.L.A. and Philothean sponsor, shows Nancy Ramos the intricacies of the dictionary.

"This really shows hard work"

Sister Sidonia, teacher of biology and math, with Sister Eutopia, teacher of biology, and sponsor of F.N.A., give the scale model of a paramecium an A+.

Custodians

Julia Lapino and Basil Smertiev, school custodians, take pride in their work.

Socorro de Leon and Emma Gill keep hungry PHS'ers fed.

Emilio Lugo maintains Providence's campus in excellent condition.

Wonders of Nature

Foster Seniors'

Desire For

Brotherhood

Senior Class officers, Judy Poston, treasurer; Shirley Gallagher, vice-president; Gail Voelker, president; and Ann Whitehead, secretary; look around them at the wonders of Cascade Caverns, Boerne, Texas. They feel the unity which is peculiar to the sight of majesty, for the awe of God's works draws persons together to see, as it were through a single pair of eyes, and to meditate with one mind.

A team proud of its victories of the Past and well prepared to meet those of the Future, a mighty machine composed of 139 separate and individual working parts of the utmost precision, a hand made up of many hands reaching forward in welcome to opportunity and success—this is the senior class of '59. The bond of four working years together has united them into the closeness, mutual understanding, and drive of a unique family, one which, with God and His holy Mother's guidance, the security of the best in spiritual, scholastic, social training, and the "togetherness" of real school spirit cannot and has not been beat.

Juniors Captivated by Beauty of Plant Life

Man has always marveled at God's power reflected in the green plants which take their life from the brown shriveled seed. Junior Class officers Phyllis Siebenaler, vice-president; Carol Kettler, president; Edwina Karam, secretary; and Nancy Beissner, treasurer, rediscover the wonderful gift of new life and the delicacy of God's artwork in flowers.

Junior Religion

Unity in

It is impossible to remain oblivious to the perpetual misgivings that so many people hold in regard to the relations between man and his neighbor. We, as juniors, feel impelled to work for a better understanding of the attitudes and struggles of our fellow men. In studying religion we realize that under God all men are equal. English and journalism aid us in self-expression and communication, thus enabling us to reach a greater understanding of one another. Spanish and Latin give us a clearer insight into the thoughts of people of a different race and age. Shorthand and typing help us learn to work side by side with various types of people. The dances planned by the juniors, as well as all school activities, help widen our perspective and give us the opportunity to associate with many different people on a social plane. Through our study of American history we learn that America began as a refuge from prejudice and tyranny. From this beginning has come our American Heritage of tolerance, brotherly love and democratic living.

The combined knowledge attained from all our subjects should aid us in striving for a greater recognition for, and love of the brotherhood of men under the Fatherhood of God.

Sophomores Plant The Seed of Fellowship

An inescapable necessity to the life of man is the nutritional value of the food he eats. Nature has provided for this need through the fruits and vegetables used by man for survival as well as for his enjoyment. Just as men work together to grow, produce, and sell these gifts of nature, the sophomores, led by their class officers: Frankie Burkeen, secretary; Carol Yaeger, vice-president; Tommye Jean Loverde, president; and Cecilia Mimari, treasurer; work in togetherness, growing and producing worthwhile citizens for the future.

Sophomores Join In Universal Prayer

For Peace

Meet the Providence sophomore! Eager to achieve a name for herself and her class, she is full of school spirit and always ready to lend a helping hand.

Her life as a sophomore is colored with new and old activities in her studies. Religion and English are her fundamentals. Biology, a new subject this year, offers her a chance to study God's gifts in nature, while Latin and Spanish add a touch of the exotic to her daily schedule. Algebra or business math denote her choice of an academic or commercial course. In P. E. she learns that playing well with her neighbor is an important part of growing up. Her personality begins to take more definite shape as an individual, and she looks eagerly toward the future.

She works hard that the Senior Brunch will be as much of a success as in the preceding years, and looks forward to giving the dance in April. Now open to her is Confraternity with a chance to spread the word of God. She accepts this challenge readily.

As a member of the Mystical Body of Christ, she is important not only to her school, but to God and her Church. Her ideals are untarnished by prejudice and ignorance; she has set her standards high, and will one day be an asset to society. Fully realizing this, she goes on. . .advancing each day in knowledge and grace, faltering, perhaps, but ever striving for her goal.

Freshmen View Brotherhood

In creating His world, God the Father saw fit to place on it living creatures, so He created both plants and animals for the benefit of His human creatures. Mary Ellen Egan, president; Candy Barbera, vice-president; Carol Ward, secretary; and Mary Ann Karam, treasurer, experience a feeling of joy and adventure by getting a taste of farm life in caring for one of Nature's young. Seeing God's love in His beings, and learning to share them early in life will imprint a knowledge of brotherhood on the character of all throughout the years.

Amid awesome stacks of books the freshmen of '59 plunged into their first year of high school at Providence. Possessing the determination to excell, they studied their way through religion, English, music I, algebra, world history and homemaking. Besides their scholastic endeavors, the fish sponsored the Sleigh Ride Swing, the PTC Dance in January, and climaxed their school year by hostessing the Freshman Day to future PHSer's. And so the "all important" first year ends. Freshman eyes glow with pride and class spirit as they reminisce on the year's achievements while eagerly anticipating the future.

Balance in Nature, Balance in Club Life Reflect Love of God

God has given us many wonders in nature; among them is Balanced Rock near Fredericksburg, Texas. As this huge structure is balanced on only three corners, we may also say that our school organizations are balanced on three cornerstones basic to Brotherhood: members work for the club and school, for all mankind, and for God. Today's young people are truly learning Christian fellowship through active membership in school and class organizations. Leading a few of these organizations are Kathleen Driffill, editor of the PRO-VUE; Virginia Knight, president of the Marian Choristers; and Doris Juenke, editor of the PHILO THEAN.

Pro-Vue

Reflects

Student Life

"My 'hole' story gone!"

Sylvia Zarmora finds that her laborious hours of writing and re-writing were well worth the effort while Yvonne Condrey seems to tell us that "something" is missing in her issue of the paper.

"So that's what's going to happen to Dick Tracy!"

Sylvia Zamora, Tommie Barnes, Beatrice Braun, Betty Pack and Barbara Fournier note the superior news coverage of the San Antonio Light.

"And just think! I wrote 1/49 of this page!"

Rosemary Milligan and Dyanne Dingel discuss the excellent layout of the editorial page while Sylvia Flory is content simply to enjoy the news she helped to write.

A genuine interest in the PHS student combined with the ability to sketch a vivid picture of the student's activities enables the Pro-Vue staff, sponsored by Sister Mary Thecla, to produce a highly readable paper. While carrying out the purposes of the Catholic Press to "share Truth and to spread Faith", the Staff provides a permanent and accurate record of a year at Providence.

Kathleen Driffill, Editor

"The Proud Family"

Marveling at "their" paper fresh off the press of International Printing Company are Tommie Barnes, Barbara Fournier, Shirley Gallagher, Charlotte Rauschuber, Judy Helms, Kathleen Driffill, Sylvia Zamora and Margaret Quinn.

"Just watch this ole Pro. . . oops!"

Laura Helms, Shirley Gallagher, and Barbara Carlin perform the tedious task of preparing the dummy.

Student Council Sets Example of Working Together

"Peanuts, anyone?"

Student Council officers, Beverly Volz, president; Barbara Lutz, vice-president; Alice Vollmer, secretary; and Judy Elder, treasurer; sort the "Peanuts for Polio" for homeroom distribution.

"Brotherhood personified!"

Rabbi Grosman; Catholic Chaplain, Father Gaffney; and Reverend McAllister; brotherhood speakers, converse with Mimi Schiffers, Beverly Volz and Gail Voelker.

Just as a person who appreciates the gifts of God acts as a mediator to the rest of mankind by opening their eyes to these gifts, the Student Council is a mediator between faculty and student. Through their hard work and activities such as the Back-To-School Dance, "Peanuts for Polio", Mardi-Gras and U. N. dances, and Brotherhood Week, they open the eyes of the student body to appreciation of the gift of attending Providence.

"Balloons, balloons, and no pop!"

Carol Buckholdt, Dyanne Dingel, Kathleen Robertson, Rosemary Milligan, and Gail Voelker blow up gala balloons for the pre-Lenten Mardi Gras Dance.

"Hey! How about this. . .?"

Combining their efforts to compose a "Students' Code of Conduct" are Beatrice Braun, Margie Quinn, Ginny Lutz, and Carol Kettler.

"Whee!! Only 559 more bows to make!"

Carol Sue Schmidt, Sharon Reiley, Kitty Fischer, Pat Sardo, and Frances Shipman work together to finish the red bows and yellow ribbons for "Courtesy Week."

Through her daily duties, days of recollection, and retreats, a Sodalist constantly strives to deepen her own interior life, and in turn, through her prayers, work, and example make others more Christ-like. Sodality projects aimed at brotherhood in PHS have been daily mental prayer for the entire student body, posting of the Legion of Decency classifications, and religious Christmas card sale.

Realizing that the brotherhood of all men will be attained through a common bond of spiritual unity and understanding, the Sodality, Student Council, and National Honor Society have jointly sponsored the Guadalupe Contest, dedicated to Our Lady of Guadalupe. It is intended to make everyone more spiritual minded and aid them in thinking with the Church as a result of weekly religious articles read by the participants.

"The good old summer time."

Sodality officers Judy Elder, treasurer; Josie Dominguez, corresponding secretary; Nancy Beissner, librarian; Mary Jo Grothues, prefect; and Esther Habermann, sacristan, leisurely plan Sodality meetings and activities for the year. Absent from the picture is Janet Walsh, vice-prefect.

"I'll NEVER get used to this thing!"

Mary Antoinette Rodriguez helps PHS'ers begin the day by turning their thoughts to God in mental prayer.

"Deep in thought."

Sylvia Gonzalez chooses the outdoor stations at St. Joseph's Retreat House to reflect on conference thoughts at the sodalists' closed retreat given by Father Levet, S. J., of Spring Hill College, Alabama.

"What is this—Twenty Questions?"

In a joint panel discussion, Judy Elder, Nancy Beissner, Carol Kettler, Henry Yaeger, and Larry Mauer prepare sodalists from Providence and Central for the annual Sodality convention at Our Lady of the Lake College.

Sodalists Seek Brotherhood Through Spiritual Unity

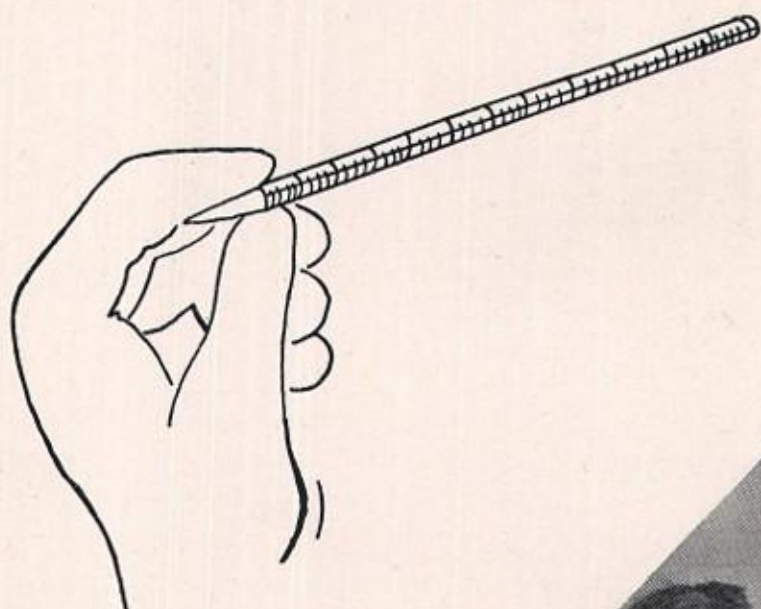

"Mercy, kind Master!"

To help finance the sodalists' closed retreat, Bernadette Bernal willingly acts as slave for Master Barbara Lutz during Slave Day.

"Snake eyes!"
Sodalists enjoy bunco at their surprise Christmas party.

Red Cross Aids Brothers at Home and Abroad

A bit of cheer for a sick person is one of the best cures known. The Junior Red Cross workers knowing this, participate actively in many worthwhile projects. By providing favors, cookies, filling gift boxes and candy cups they bring a bit of happiness to those less fortunate. Giving their precious time wholeheartedly, they find peace and happiness through sharing and make many new acquaintances.

"And what's wrong with a smile, girls!"
Red Cross Representatives work meditatively on Valentine tray favors, and fill gift boxes for overseas.

"I like this one!"

The officers of the Junior Red Cross, Anyce Randol, president; Sonja Heldt, treasurer; Kathy Gruen, vice-president; and Erin Hermes, secretary, cheerfully pack Christmas tray favors.

"Have you been to the sickroom lately?"

Rosettes, Carol Howard and Tommye Loverde, discuss sickroom duties before going down to the Santa Rosa Hospital.

F N C encourages prospective Nurses

"Perfect ahhh. . . . Joyce!"

Joyce Dupré, second vice-president, shows proper mouth position for examination of throat to other officers: Janet Walsh, treasurer; Mary Lou Meiche, secretary; Betty Pack, first vice-president; Mary Alice Peña, president, Kathy Kennedy, corresponding secretary; and Jeri Catalani, historian.

The Future Nurses, under the direction of Sister Eutropia, learn the basic elements of first aid while they graciously give of their time to staff the sickroom and care for the needs of fellow students. In addition to this opportunity to practice brotherhood, participation in her club's activities and acquaintance with community resources related to the nursing field, F.N.C. gives a member practical career information.

Music Stimulates Good Will

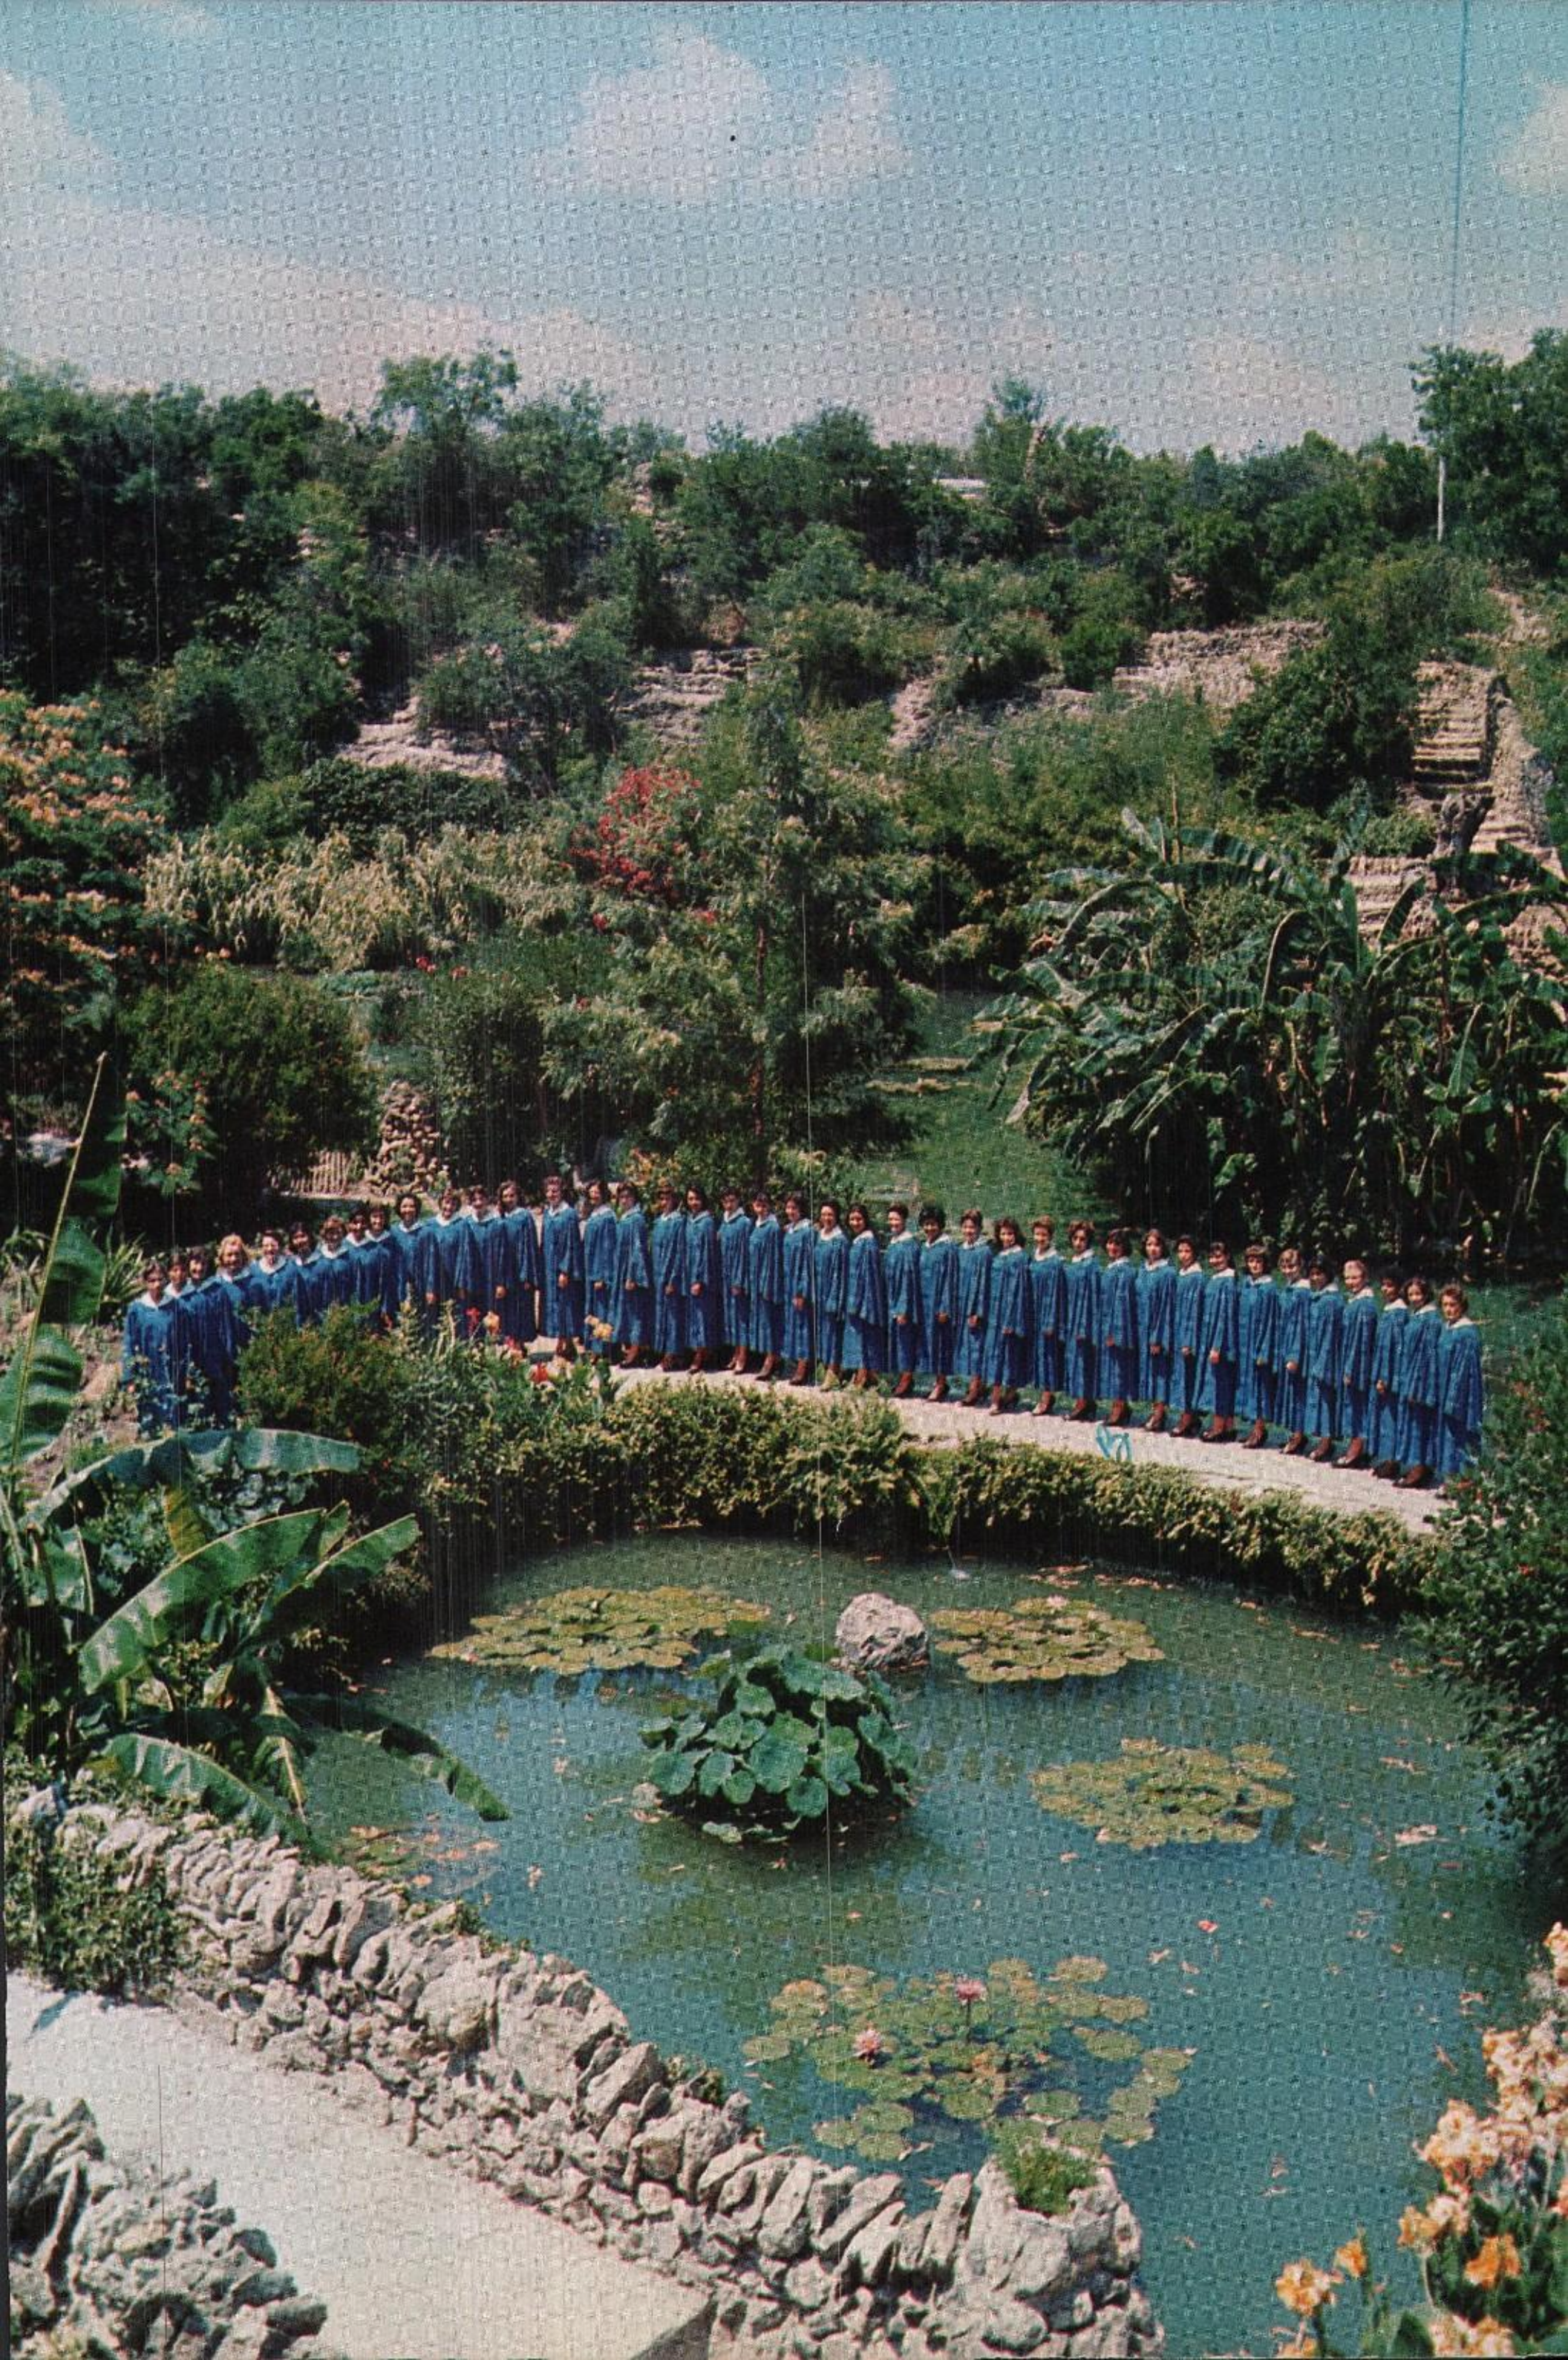

"Does he really look like that?..."
... asks Anyce Randol, Joyce Dupre, and Mary T. Solis as Ann Whitehead assisted by Virginia Knight put the finishing touches on a bulletin board on the "Magic Flute".

Good will can be expressed in many ways, but one of the most enjoyable and relaxing is through music. This was brought out in the "Magic Flute" presented by the Marian Choristers. These ninety girls are always ready to provide entertainment by performing at school assemblies, and civic functions.

This good will is also developed through the national music fraternity, Tri-M. By participating in ensemble contests, festivals, and other joint activities with neighboring chapters, members are given opportunities of a practical as well as an asthetic nature.

Dear Joyce,

Its been a long four years, but we are about to be rewarded for them. We have had many heartbreaks and also a lot of fun in the last four years. I hope that we shall always remain good friends and share in happiness. May you remain the sweet, understanding, and lovable girl that you are.

"We ought to start a pompon makers' union!"

Officers of the F.T.A. Irene Alonzo, treasurer; Sylvia Zamora, president; Georgia Ann Lehr, secretary; and Lucille Trevino, vice-president; make and sell pompons for the games.

"F T A Explores the Fields of Education"

"It should be Sister Dove!"

Here Sylvia Zamora, Lucille Trevino, Marina Alvarado, and Irene Alonzo relax a bit after the completion of their Book Week display.

"No, Sister! We've never even dreamed about report cards yet."

Under the supervision of Mrs. Stimel, sponsor of the F.T.A., the faculty receive apples in appreciation of their many efforts.

"Come on. . .snake eyes!"

Father John M. Gibbons, O.M.I., and Betty Dietel try their luck against Mary Esther Ortiz and Linda Bishop, at the C.C.D. buncos party.

"Brace yourself. . .here they come!"

Tommye Jean Loverde, Jo Marie Ehrler, Hattie Grohman, Liz Lemes, and Anna Rathmann, serve refreshments at the Christmas party.

"One for you. . .two for me!"

Elizabeth Naughton and Sonja Helt, sort out the candy to be given to children attending C.C.D. classes.

CCD Inspires Better Christian Living

Betty Pack, president of the C.C.D., seems deeply absorbed in her teaching at Our Lady of Fatima.

We know you're photogenic, Bernadette. . .but we are late!"

Bernadette Bernal, Mary Jane Gosnell, and Sylvia Zamora once again are off to mold little minds.

"Instruct the ignorant. . . ."

The Confraternity teacher wholeheartedly accepts the responsibility of teaching the truths of our religion to children less fortunate than ourselves. Thus she is the instrument God uses to shine a ray of light for the Mystical Body of Christ and unite all under Christ's leadership.

FHA'ers Combine Efforts For Success

"How are we going to keep her up?"

Sharon Johnson, with the assistance of Anna Marie Garcia, arranges the F.H.A. display case.

"Once upon a time. . ."

Monica F.H.A. officers: Patricia Tarrillion, Azalia Buenrostro, Karen Schultze, Karen Billimek, Kay Bragg, and Mimi McKinney take a pause from their busy schedule to "relax a while" on the P.H.S. campus.

"F.H.A., F.H.A., God in His love enfold thee. . ."

Elizabeth Galle, Joan Fecci, Bernadette Kresta, and Lynn Till build spirit by singing their club song.

"Are you sure the abbreviations are right?"

Elsa Medina asks Becky Garcia as they put up the F.H.A. display case.

The Monica, freshman, and Marian, sophomore, Chapters of the F.H.A. are directed by Sister M. Angelina and Sister M. Liberta. The members of both participate actively in many worth-while projects during the year. Autumn brings crisp delicate corsages while the Christmas season brings the symbolic advent wreaths created by busy Marian F.H.A.'ers. After the Monica members create dainty Christmas earrings, they unite with the Marian and Providence Chapters to give the annual P.P.O.F. The Future Homemakers are well on their way "Toward New Horizons."

"Then you twist the wire so. . ."

Nora Mae Gerloff explains carefully to Carolyn Brown as they make Thanksgiving corsages.

"SOUNDS definite. . ."

After completing their display, club officers, Marilyn Brown, treasurer; Judy Zepeda, president; Ann Ramirez, vice-president; and Catherine Joseph, secretary, skim through the book they are donating to the library during Book Week.

Living up to their motto, "Toward New Horizons", the junior and senior members of the Providence Chapter of the F.H.A. sponsored by Sister Agnes Ann, had an activity-filled year. Among their projects were a Book Week exhibit and a Family Bingo. Guest speakers and area, district and state meetings were also a part of the year. The last project, a club picnic, ended the '58-'59 year.

"This year's achievements? Umm. let me see. . ."

Summing up the year's achievements are chapter officers Eva Baldarrama, treasurer; Gracie Cortez, song leader; Mary Jane Gosnell, president; and Dixie Sanford, vice-president.

F H A'ers Build For Future

" $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of sugar multiplied by 6. Ohh!!!"

Preparing refreshments for the Family Bingo are Gracie Cortez, Eva Baldarrama, Mary Jane Gosnell, and Dixie Sanford.

TALA

Promotes Service Ideal

"And they lived happily ever after."

T.A.L.A. officers Toni Holman, parliamentarian; Nell Faubian, secretary; Eileen Rayburg, historian; Bobbie Anderson, president; Carol Yeager, vice-president; and Ruth Miller, treasurer, sample books which they collected for the Oblate missions.

"Just a little more to your right."

Involved in the task of "creating" a Catholic Press Month display are Nancy Ringer and Suzie Johnson, display chairman.

SERVICE is the motto of Library Club members who generously give of their time checking books in and out for fellow students, shelve returned books and arrange displays to make the reading of books more attractive. Other activities carried on by the club were the annual Book Week exhibit and tea, sponsorship of a paperback rack, and collection of books for Oblate foreign missions.

Teamwork Characterizes G A A

"2+2=5. So they did win!"

Mrs. H. E. Stimel directs G.A.A. officers, Barbara Carle, secretary; Grace Cortez, vice-president; Kathleen Robertson, treasurer; and Christine Gallagher, president, on the "do's and don'ts" of score keeping.

The Girls Athletic Association of P.H.S. strives to build for physical fitness and depth of character through participation by P.H.S.'ers in sports activities such as volleyball, basketball, and baseball. Under the capable leadership of faculty advisor, Mrs. H.E. Stimel, and its officers, the G.A.A. epitomizes brotherhood because teamwork is the essential factor in any sport.

"Mad scramble!!"

Seniors—Nelda Gonzalez, Sylvia Flory, Jo Ella Osborn, and Kay Robertson, eagerly receive their long-awaited sports letters from Mrs. Stimel.

"Just keep walking"

It may be raining outside, but it doesn't dampen the spirits of Ann Seguin, Kathy Sauer, Marilyn Robitzsch, Camille Ogden, Georgia Ruiz, Laura Neira, Marilyn Moore, and Mary Ann Brosch.

Art Fosters Harmony

Art is the common language of man. It is not restricted by color, race, or creed. It unites all men and requires no language other than itself. Through the art club's varied activities it strives to understand this language by studying art and making its own artifacts, thus furthering its one great aim, appreciation of the great unifier—art.

"Que paso?"

Mary Ellen Egan and Fredrica Wiegand stand admiring one of Jose Orozco's well known paintings "Zapatistas". Clemente Orozco, son of the artist, gives them some interesting background information.

"But I'm not doodling!"

Rosemary Knight, Barbara Fry, Barbara Christensen, and Estela Terry, are each putting in their "two cents worth" in planning the next art club meeting.

Christian Character Progresses Thru N H S

National Honor Society members are not "just book-worms"! Eligibility for this organization is based on Service, Leadership, Character and Scholarship, with ratings given by each teacher who has come in contact with nominees during their years at P.H.S. This organization, under the direction of Sister St. Rita, is an ideal held by every P.H.S.'er.

"Thank you, Father."

Father Moore congratulates Joyce Dupré as she receives her membership card and ribbons symbolizing Service, Scholarship, Leadership and Character.

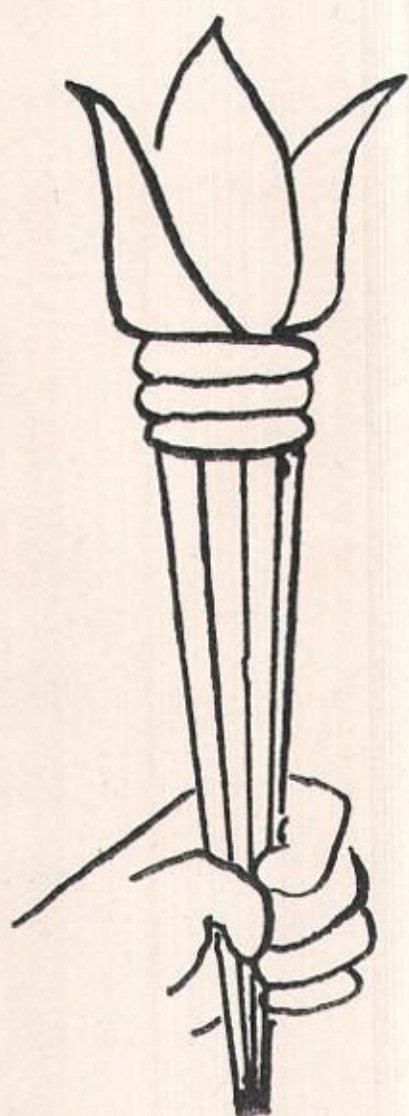

Newly installed members, seniors: Lana Crawford, Judy Elder, Judy Helms, Sarah Joeris, Rosemary Newman, and Carol Sue Schmidt; and juniors: Tommie Barnes, Nancy Beissner, Beatrice Braun, Joyce Dupré, Mary Jo Grothues, Patricia Haby, Judy Heye, Kathie Kennedy, Carol Kettler, Amy Klein, Phyllis Lehr, Mary Margaret Logan, Virginia Lutz, Pat Petratis, Margaret Quinn, Janice Richards and Martha Wood reflect on the four-fold objectives of the N.H.S.

"All eyes center!"

Rosemary Milligan secures the final block on the arch while members meditate on the merit of Scholarship.

"Senior members—tried and tested"

Active members Dyanne Dingel, Ann Whitehead, Kitty Fischer, Gail Voelker, Doris Juenke, Helen Tower, Beverly Volz, Barbara Lutz, Frances Shipman, Rosemary Milligan, Virginia Knight, and Jo Ella Osborn gather after the 1959 National Honor Society Installation.

"Smile and the world smiles with you."

P.T.C. officers Mrs. L. Schiffrers, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. Cuny, recording secretary; Mr. B. H. Fournier, president; Mrs. A. F. Catalini, second vice-president; and Mr. R. Ramirez, treasurer, look back on another successful year.

Working together in all their activities, parents and teachers of Providence students form an active and busy organization which promotes good relations among all. Included among their many projects which afford a good balance of cultural, social, and moneymaking activities are regular monthly meetings with guest speakers and provision of entertainment, games, parties, audiometer hearing tests, chest x-rays, and graduation and a luncheon for the seniors.

"One more number and I will have it!"
These unidentified "bingoers" seem to be enjoying themselves as they try their luck at one of the P.T.C. sponsored bingos.

"Under B, 55!"

Masters at the art of playing bingo, Mr. B. H. Fournier and Mr. J. Barbera spin and call for a friendly PTC bingo.

PHS Salutes PTC

Guest speaker, Rev. J. A. Till, Archdiocesan director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, answers the questions of interested PTC members.

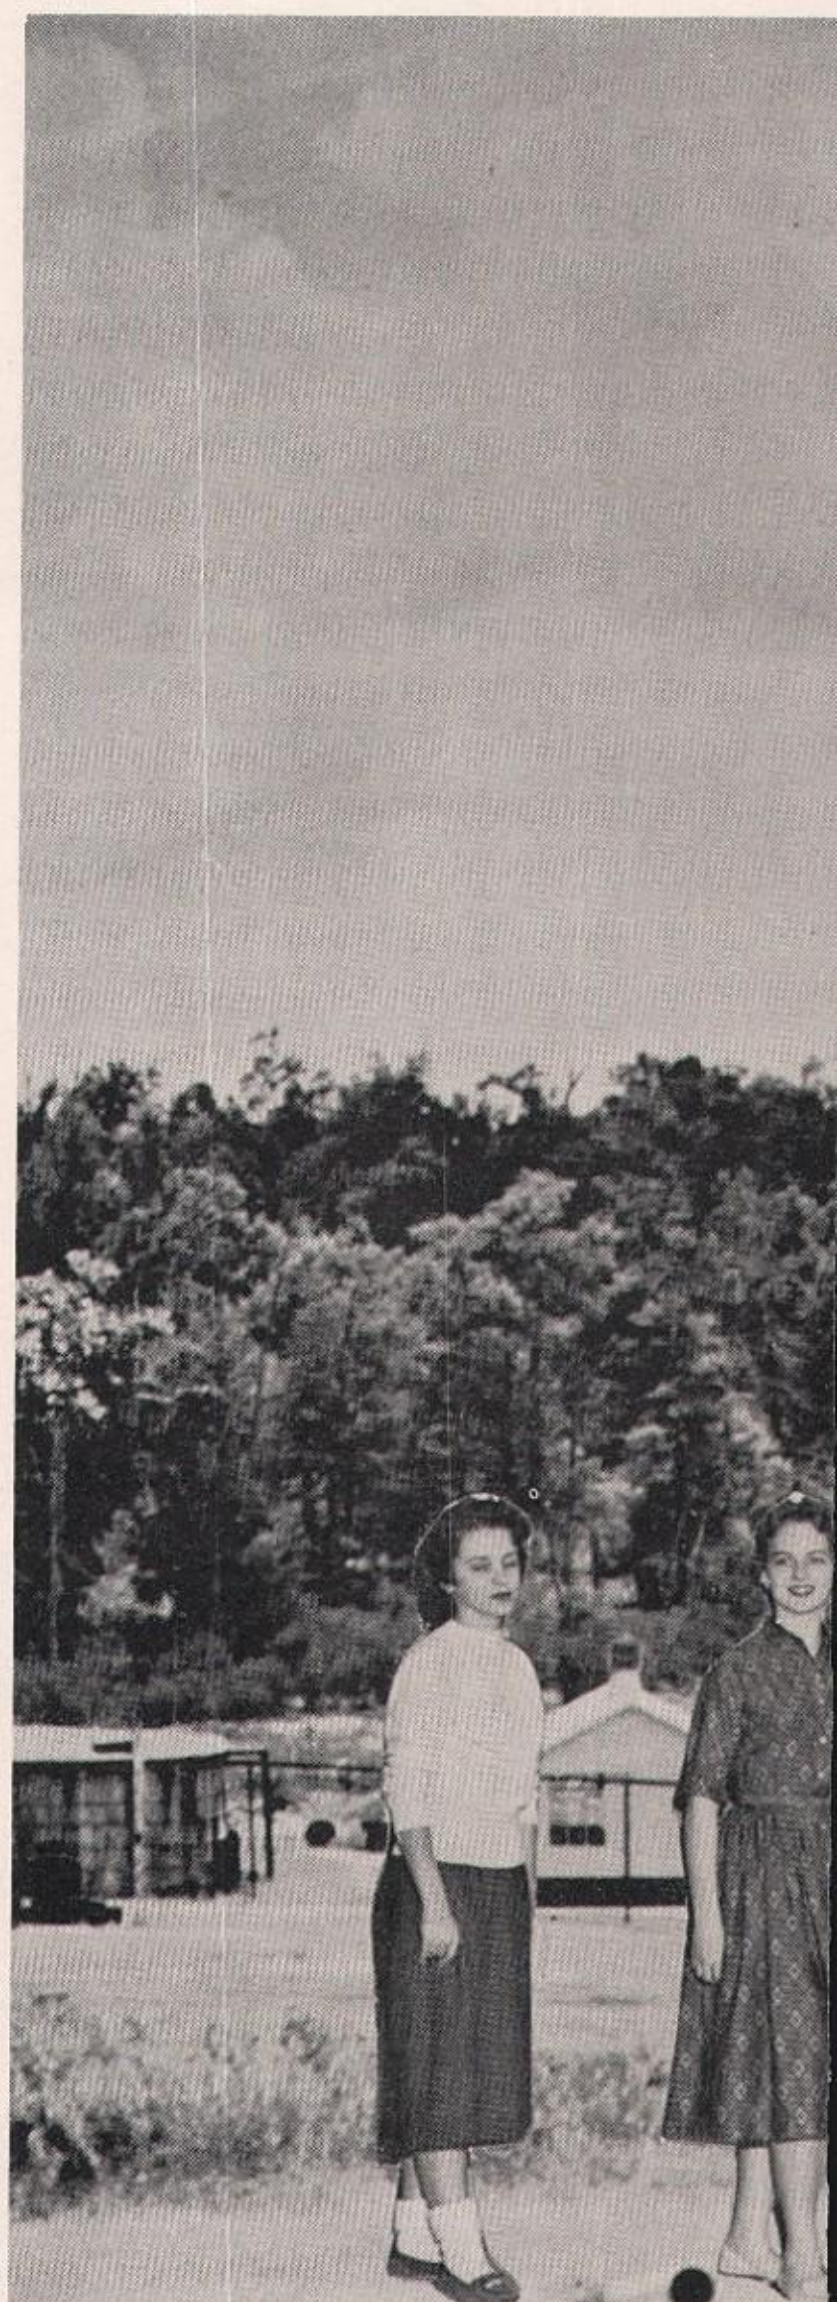

"Oh, for the good old days!"

Interested parents provide a watchful eye as PHS'ers and dates live it up at the junior-sponsored dance, the "Frosty Fantasy"

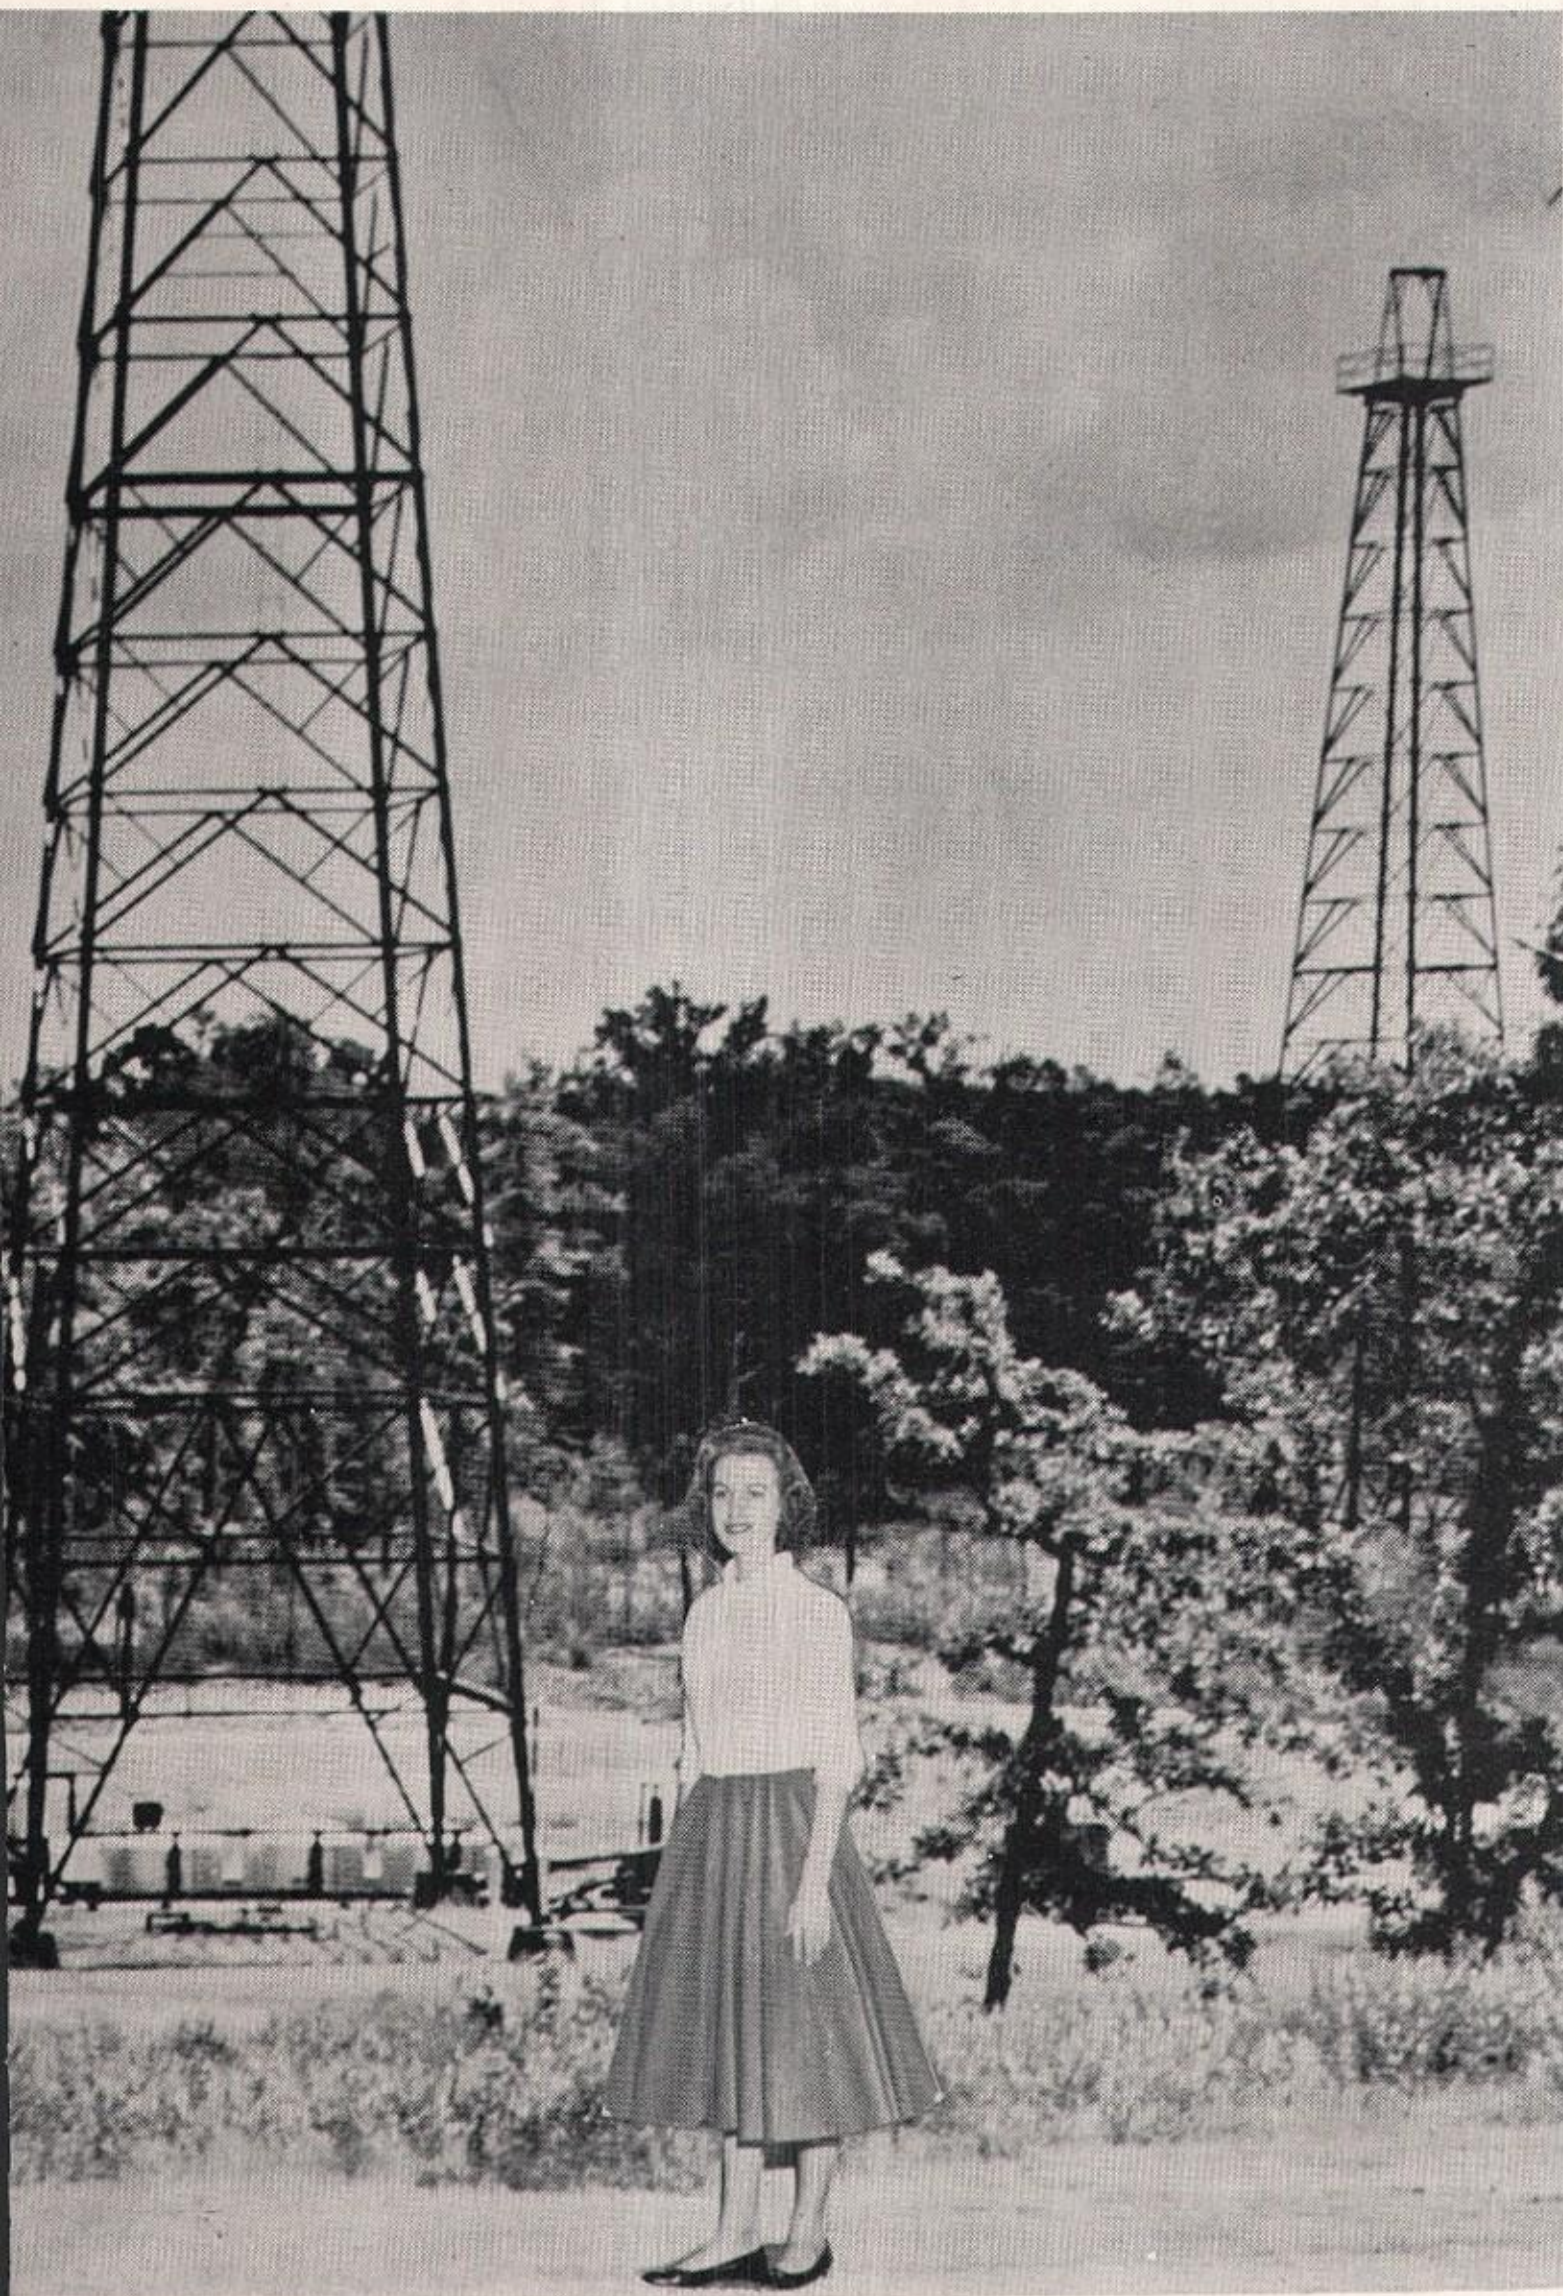

Calendar of Events

This universe of ours is filled to capacity with an abundance of beauty and wealth. Among the riches, oil, native to our own Texas, is an abundant natural resource. The extensive use of oil is seen in our daily living—in industry, medicine, foods, and transportation. Oil is first produced in the raw and goes through many processes before it is completely refined. We may compare this to the events of the year at P.H.S.—dances, plays, sports, recitals, and seasonal activities—events which build a cultural background for each individual student. Responsible for many of the activities are Beverly Volz, president of the Student Council; Betty Pack, president of the Confraternity; and Mary Jo Grothues, prefect of the Sodality.

School Year Begins With A Prayer And A Party

The keynote of God-centered education for the new PHS school year was set with a Mass in Honor of the Holy Ghost. The Mass, attended by the entire student body, was offered by His Excellency, Stephen A. Leven, the Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of San Antonio. After Mass, Bishop Leven gave a stimulating talk on the advantages of a Catholic education and our responsibilities towards properly acquiring one. We students were reminded by the participation in this Mass, as well as by Bishop Leven's message, that students and teachers are closely united at Providence as we work together—spiritually, scholastically, and socially.

"My dear young ladies. . ."

Bishop Leven introduces the school year to Providence students with a talk on the advantages of attending a Catholic school.

"I will wash my hands among the innocent. . ."

The Providence school year begins as the girls assist at the Mass of the Holy Ghost offered by Bishop Leven.

"Anything but a dead one!"
Sue Sauer pleads as a well-wisher hands her a dead fish.

"O exalted, magnificent, esteemed, admirable, sumptuous, superior seniors. . ."
. . . blithely recite freshmen Joan and Joyce Scholwinski to their benevolent big sisters Joyce and Judy Poston.

"United we stand, divided we fall."

Seniors graciously accept their role as big sisters at the Senior-Fish Party, when they attempt to show bewildered freshmen the ropes.

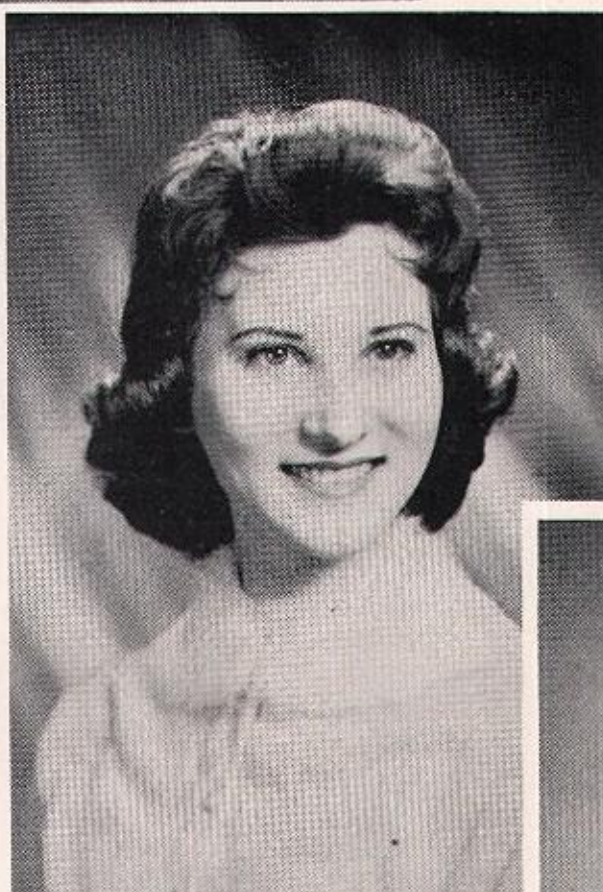

"What a haul!"
... exclaims Gail Voelker, senior class president and emcee of Senior-Fish Party, as she proudly displays her catch.

Rings Symbolize

Senior Unity

"In nomine Patris, et Filii. . ."

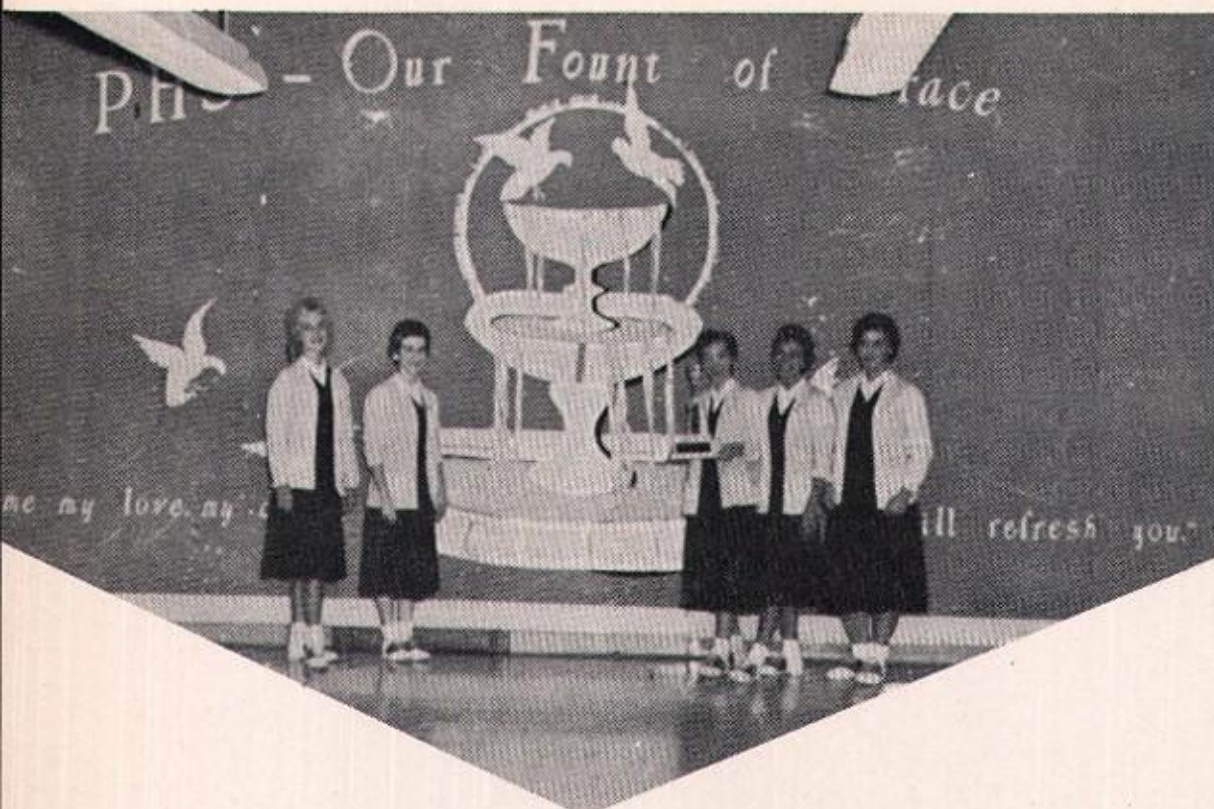

Junior representatives, Margie Quinn and Amy Klein, intently watch as Father Moore blesses the rings soon to be presented to the waiting seniors.

A bona fide symbol of the graduating class is its senior ring. This long anticipated reward was blessed and presented on September 18, by Rev. James P. Moore at a simple and solemn ceremony, with the stage setting prepared by the junior class. The receiving of her senior ring is a highlight in the life of every senior, and one which will always remain fresh in her memory.

"The proud family of a proud senior."

Barbara Currie, with parents and little sister, closely and proudly examines her newly acquired, well deserved senior ring.

Color Day provides P. H. S.'ers with a wonderful chance to further friendships and imbibe school spirit. As classes vie in choosing suitable themes to carry out in attractive display, each student forgets herself and becomes a member of a creative, artistic, religious team. All then glow with pride in their school, whether a trophy has been won or not.

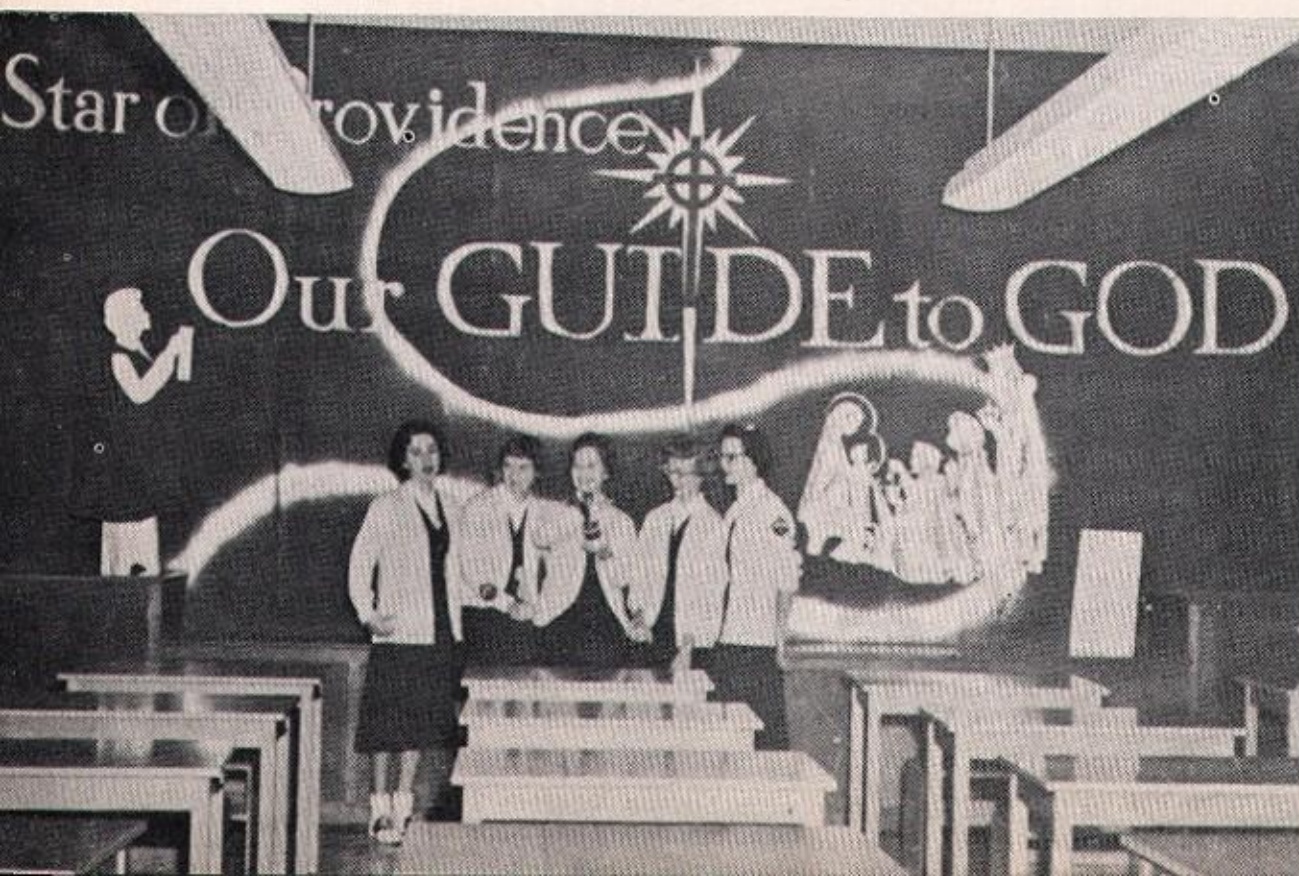

"...and no one could be prouder!"

Beaming in front of their first place display are Carolyn Kotula, Dyanne Dingel, Shirley Gallagher, Carol Blakey and Judy Helms of Home Room 101.

"And it's ours!"

Extra proud and extra happy about their second place trophy are Jo Ella Osborn, Bernadette Bernal, Josephine Gamez, and Virginia Knight of Home Room 103.

"Well Satisfied!"

That was the comment these happy seniors had to make about their third place winner. They are Judy Poston, Gail Voelker, Ann Whitehead, Eileen Doyle, and Mary Frances Shipman from Home Room 102.

Seniors Steal Show On Color Day

"The time has come. . .!"
...for all class presidents, Gail Voelker, Carol Kettler, Tommie Loverde, and Mary Ellen Egan to take a rest while traveling "Around the world" on an imaginary trip at the 1958 Color Day Skit. Behind the desk is amused Beverly Volz, Student Council president.

"Presenting the latest fashions from Paris?"
Elizabeth Ann Galle, freshman, stunningly styles her own sack!

"Wouldn't you love to travel?"
Examining posters for Color Day Skits are Beatrice Torres, Mary Tavares, Barbara Fry.

"Da-a-h-h-l-i-n-g, what a divine pony tail."
Student Council officers and members portray the British parliament in the Color Day Skit.

"We adore Thee, O Christ, and we bless Thee. . ."

Dixie Sanford meditates on the Way of the Cross, while Camille Ogden, Patti Barbera, Ann Seguin, and Mary Jane Kuby visit the Blessed Sacrament during annual retreat.

Retreat Stimulates Love

"Well, as a matter of spiritual fact. . ."

Father John Sullivan, our retreat master from Guthrie, Oklahoma, gives a bit of friendly advice to freshman, Claudia Burch.

"Minds wandering in the right direction."

Carol Migoni, Ella Mae Moy, Mary Hernandez, and Selma Tenorio meditate, read, and pray during their annual retreat.

A retreat provides the means for students to shut out the world and bring themselves closer to God by meditation and prayer. The Rev. John Sullivan acted as the retreat master for the first of the two retreats held yearly at PHS. During retreat, Providence students put distractions from their minds, and abstained from talking in order that they might become constantly aware of the Presence of God in their lives. They were truly grateful for the opportunity to deepen their understanding and love of God and their neighbors.

The key to the wisdom and understanding of one's fellow man is found in the reading of good books. During Book Week, each school organization arranges a book display. These displays are judged and afterwards, the books are donated to the library. The purpose of this week is not only to provide a form of healthy competition for students, but also to stimulate a student's desire to read more good books, which is often an aid to the acquiring of a true knowledge and understanding of her fellow-man.

"I'm holding it up!"

Student Council officers: Judy Elder, Alice Vollmer, Beverly Volz, and Barbara Lutz admire their "First-Place-Winning" book week display.

"It might be more artistic if we centered it!"

The second-place ribbon, won by the Art Club is being pinned on by members: Mary Tavaras, Barbara Fry, Linda Egan, and Eloise Hernandez.

Books Vibrate Wisdom

"Does 'Angels of Mercy' refer to us too?"

The display which won third-place was that of the Future Nurses. Arranging their work of art are: Joyce Dupre, Janet Walsh, Mary Alice Pena, and Nancy Beissner.

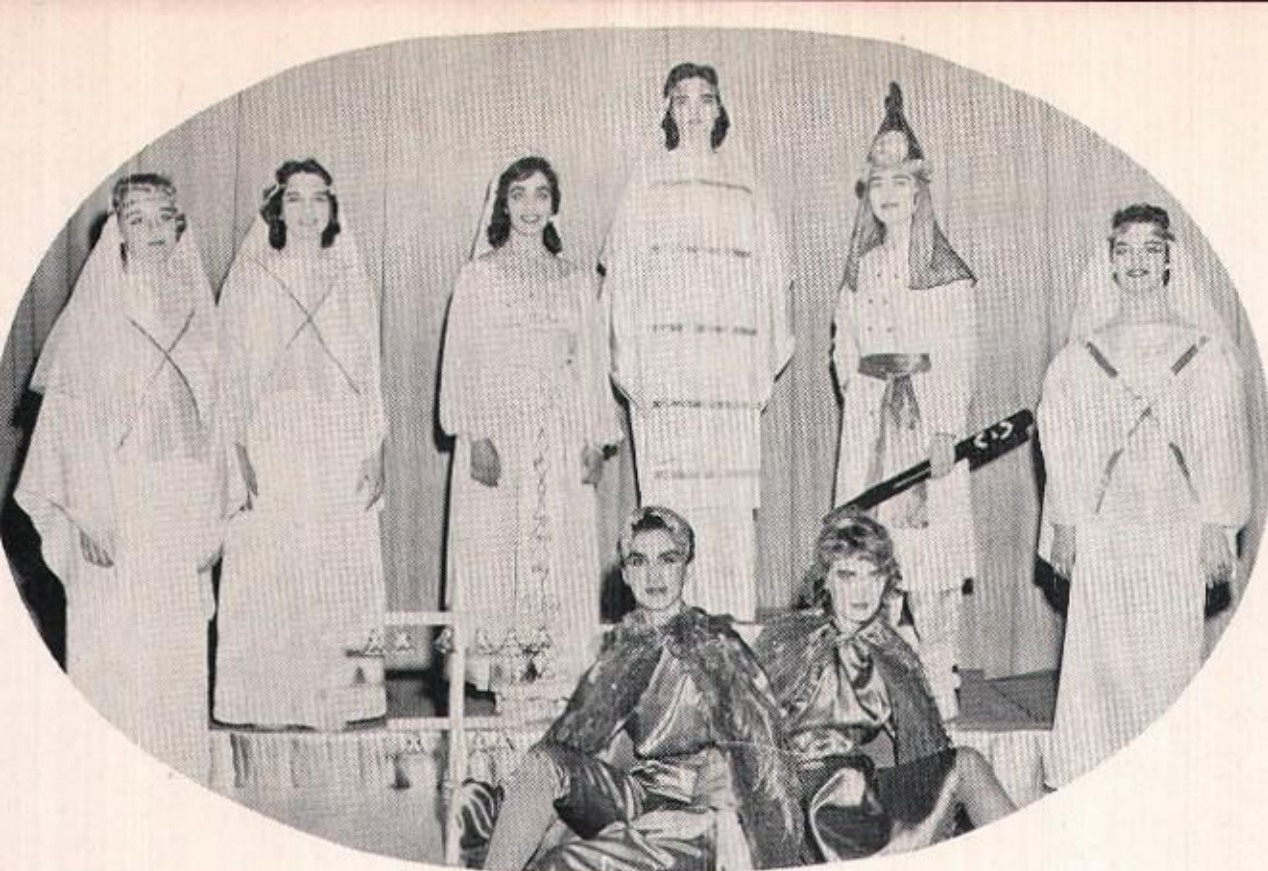

Magic Flute Proves "Note - Able"

She can't compete with Tom Dooley, but Mary Theresa Solis is trying her best as she portrays Papageno in "The Magic Flute."

"Ah, through our power, 'O Monster, die!'"
Ladies Cynthia Schoenberg, Rose Mary Knight, Beatrice Gonzalez and Nancy Beissner kill the serpent and save Tamino's life.

"The Magic Flute" a three act Operetta by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was presented by the Marian Choristers on November 30, 1958, in Our Lady of the Lake College Auditorium. The tale dealt with a prince searching for a princess and a birdman seeking his love. Starring were Mary T. Solis as the comical Papageno; Barbara Small, his true love; Sylvia Wright the wandering prince Tamino; Stella Cerda, Pamina, daughter of the Queen of the Night; Roberta McInnis, the cruel Queen of the Night; and Kathy Verebelyi, the wise high Priestess, Sarastro.

"Once upon a time. . ."

Papageno, Mary T. Solis, and Papagena, Barbara Small, are brought together at last under the approving eyes of priestesses, Helen Tower and Barbara Lutz; princess, Stella Cerda; Sarastro, Kathy Verebelyi; prince, Sylvia Wright; and priestess, Angela Savoy.

"Smiling, why? Papageno back?"

Star maidens, Carol Sue Schmidt, Nancy Deason, Crystal Stark, Alice Daly, Mary Jo Nitsch, Joyce Dupre, and Queen of the Night, Roberta McInnis.

"Take my hand. . ."

Stella Cerda, Pamina, and Sylvia Wright are led to true love through Sarastro, Kathy Verebelyi.

"Up, up. . .and away!"

One of the shots which enabled juniors, under the leadership of Mary Jo Nitsch, to put up a hard fight against the opposing seniors.

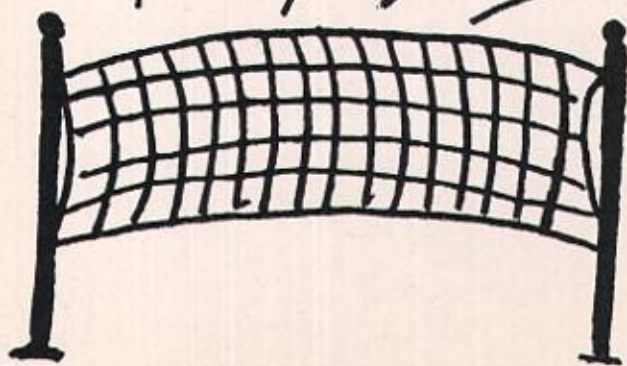

Senior "Ifics" Capture Trophy

The volleyball trophy this year went to the seniors for their excellent performance against the junior team. The score, 33 to 21, was a sure proof that the senior "Ifics" really were terrific.

"A winning team in action."

The senior team members and loyal supporters confidently watch their captain, Nelda Gonzalez, as she volleys the ball in a play that helped to win the game.

P H S'ers Dance In A Land of Frosty Fantasy

"Pretty as a picture!"

Taking time-out from their fun to pose for this picture are dance committee members and their dates: Janet Walsh, Bobby Memery, Adrienne Wille, Tony Lister, Sylvia Gonzalez, Alfred Flores, Virginia Lutz, Jimmy Oertling, Judy Heye and Harold Friesen.

"Oh, the beauty of twirling skirts!"

Bart Lacey, Liz Lemes, Joyce Dupre, and Bill Kotylo take advantage of the romantic atmosphere as they dance to the music of Johnny Brock.

Christmas at Providence would never be complete without a dance. The 1958—59 dance was the "Frosty Fantasy", given by the junior class at the Fraternal Order of the Eagles' Hall. Johnny Brock's orchestra provided music, enabling Providence students to fully enjoy this fun-filled evening.

"Dancing is fun, but so is chit-chat."

Ronnie Garcia, Ellen Rolf, Irving Schuetze, Pat Haby, Martha Wood and Freddy Morton "sit-out" a dance to catch up on some friendly conversation.

Fish Captures Crown

Once again this year, jaunty red bows and a contagious courtesy were predominant as Courtesy Week, a Student Council-sponsored project, came upon the scene. Courtesy Week, designed to be a fun-filled reminder for all, and to create good fellowship, was climaxed by a ceremony naming Miss Courtesy of 1959.

Due to its success, high spirits and a lasting feeling of cooperation remained long after the red bows were gone.

"Who, ME?!"

Pat Sardo, freshman, is crowned "Miss Courtesy," by runner-up Janice Richards as Courtesy Week is brought to an exciting climax by the traditional ceremony.

"Speech! Speech!"

Smiling well-wishers, Carol Sue Schmidt, Judy Elder, Doris Juenke, and Ellen Rolf applaud our 1959 choice.

A variety of social activities at mid-semester offered relaxation for PHS'ers. Highlights were the formal Military Ball sponsored by Central's ROTC and the informal Sleigh Ride Swing sponsored by the freshmen.

"Attention! The queen has arrived."
Reigning queen Lorna Sullivan, Providence sophomore, and escort Gary Kirk govern happy subjects at the Military Ball.

Formal And Informal Dances Bring Relaxation At Mid-Term

"Oh, what fun it is to dance. . ."

PHS'ers and dates enjoy music and dancing at the Sleigh Ride Swing.

"Is this the line up?"

Mrs. Stimel presents the hard won trophy to captain Judy Heye who is surrounded by her victorious team: Amy Klein, Mary Logan, Sylvia Gonzales, Margaret Haynes, Carolyn Moldonado, Regina La Hood, Betty Dietel, Joyce Dupre, Ginny Lutz, and Annie Lyssy.

"Judy and the Juniors" Defeat Senior "Lollipops"

In a magnificent display of sportsmanship, homeroom 211, representing the junior class, defeated their underclassmen and won the right to play in the final basketball intramural game against the seniors. It was a close game between "Judy and the Juniors" and the Senior "Lollipops", filled with tense excitement throughout, ending in a victory for the juniors with a score of 11—10.

No! It's mine..."

Sylvia Flory, Regina La Hood, Carolyn Maldonado, Joyce Dupre, Christine Gallagher, and Belinda Rodriguez shout as they vie for the ball during a tense moment of the championship game.

New Orleans Visits P. H. S.

"Glimpse of New Orleans!"

Catholic youth enjoy festive Mardi Gras dance at Our Lady of Grace Gym sponsored by the Sodality, National Honor Society, and Student Council.

"Who said chivalry is dead?"

This gallant lad, Mickey McAdams, comes to the rescue of Carol Kettler, Fran Ferrell, and Ruthie Miller with a handful of shiny dimes. Accompanying Ruth and Carol are Ted Candler and Edger Dupre. Mary Alice Pena and David Fry converse rather seriously in the background.

"Orchestra break!"

Our fabulous R.C.A. Victor Orchestra takes over while Judy Elder and Tommye Loverde stack a group of new selections under the watchful eyes of Terry Thompson and Buddy Braun.

Recitals, Play Highlight Senior Year

Helen Tower and Ann Whitehead receive the audience's approval for their performance at the annual senior recital.

The annual senior recitals, held this year on April 27, April 30, and May 6, are the climax of the many hours which senior music students have devoted to piano, voice, or organ. In preparation, these students have participated in other recitals during the years, the music festivals at Our Lady of the Lake and Incarnate Word Colleges, and the National Piano Auditions.

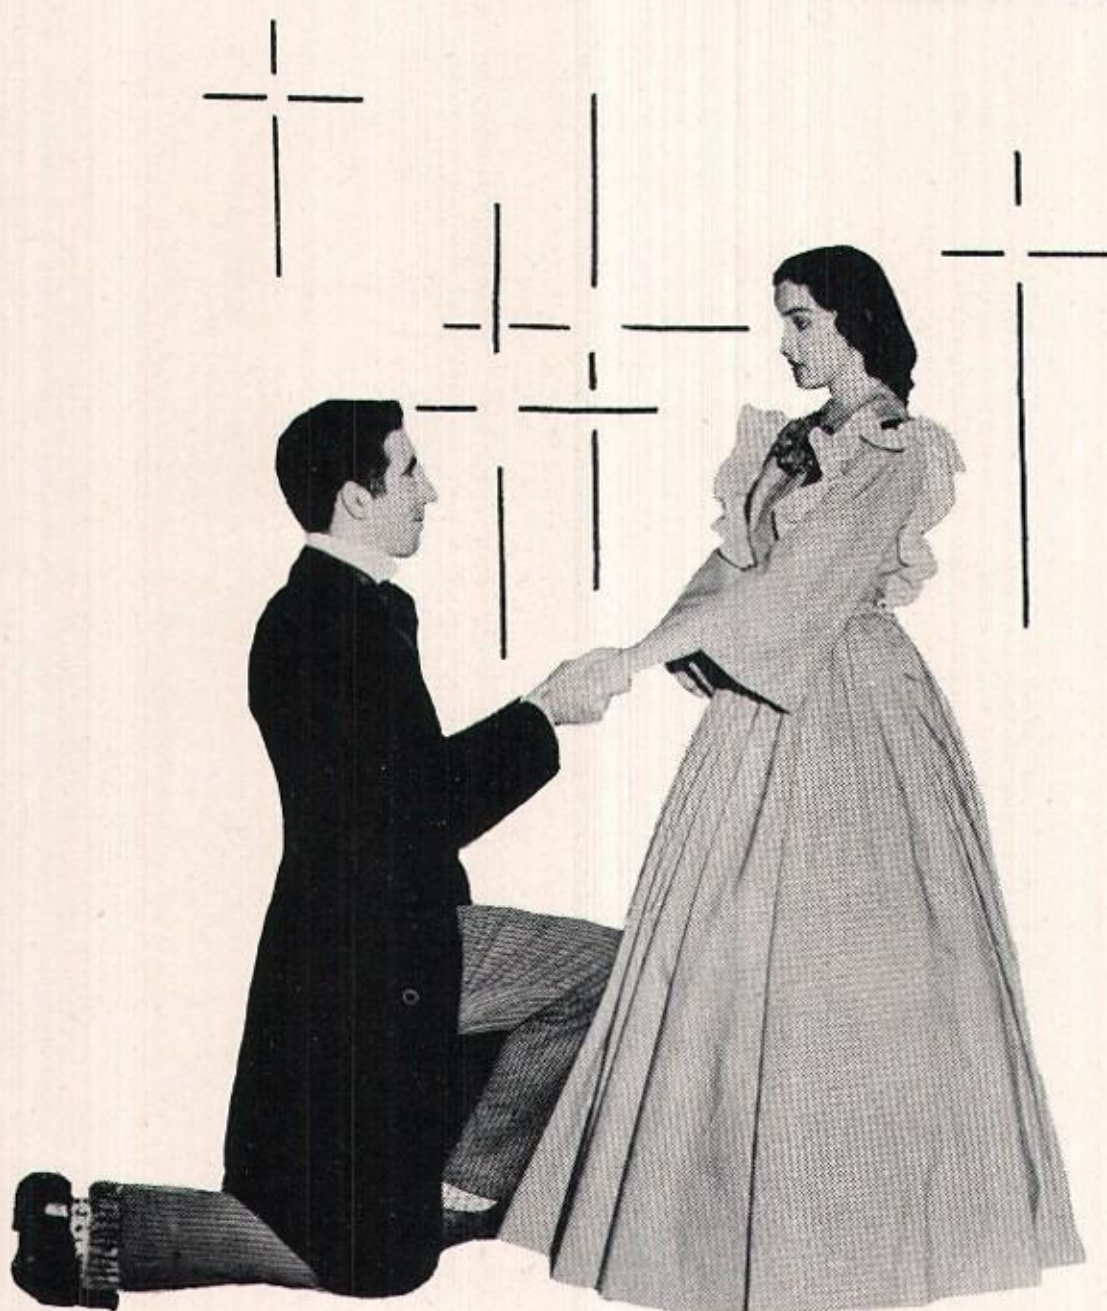

Seniors taking part in the recitals are: Eileen Doyle, Beatrice Gonzalez, Eloise Hernandez, Sarah Joeris, Virginia Knight, Angela Savoy, Pat Singleton, Mary Theresa Solis, Crystal Stark, Helen Tower, Gerry Von Schwanitz, Ann Whitehead, and Sylvia Wright.

Virginia Knight accompanies Eloise Hernandez and Beatrice Gonzalez in a duet.

Gerry Von Schwanitz and Eileen Doyle breathe a sigh of relief as they finish their final selection.

"The Barretts", a three act comedy-drama and romantic play written by Marjorie Carleton, and portraying the famous story of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning, was brought to life on March 14 and 15 by a double cast from the senior class.

Presented in British accent, the plot concerns the tyrannical love of Edward Moulton Barrett for his favorite daughter Elizabeth.

Those in the Poerner cast are: Charlotte Poerner, Elizabeth Barrett; Dyanne Dingel, Henrietta Barrett; Erin Hermes, Arabel Barrett; Bonnett Gerloff, Wilson; Roe Milligan, Milly; and Eileen Doyle, Miss Mitford.

Members of the Poston cast are: Joyce Poston, Elizabeth; Shirley Gallagher, Henrietta; Sandra Anthony, Arabel; Paula Dlugosz, Wilson; Virginia Psencik, Milly; and Kitty Fischer, Miss Mitford.

The male portion of the cast includes Ismael Montalvo as Robert Browning; Fred Ender as Edward Barrett; Don Siebenaler as George Barrett; John Juranovitch, Octavius Barrett; Charles Deason, Captain Surtess Cook; and Glen Griffith as John Kenyon.

Student director for the production was Kathleen Robertson, and Gail Voelker, stage manager.

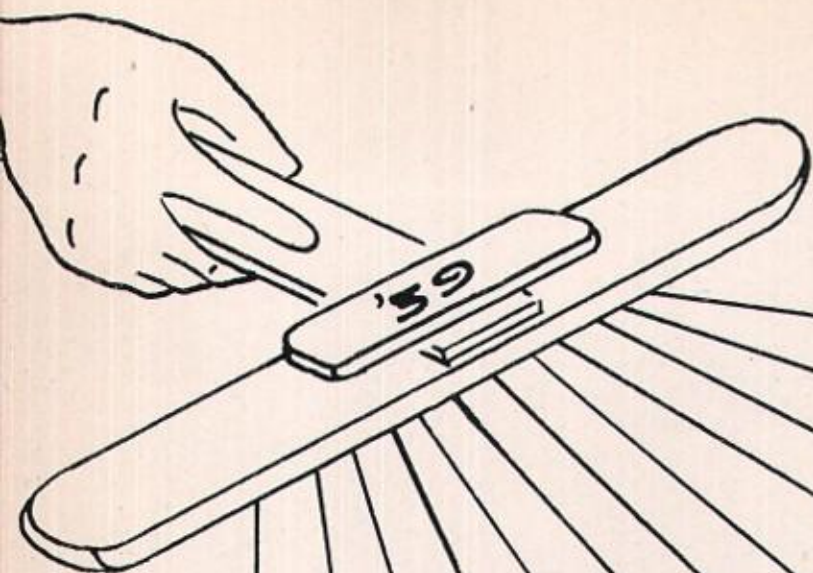

Above: Shortly after the Barrett family has greeted Elizabeth on her arrival home, Henrietta stomps on George's foot to keep him from "bungling" again.

Left: One of the high points of the play occurs when Robert Browning proposes to Elizabeth Barrett: "Miss Barrett, will you do me the honor of becoming my wife?"

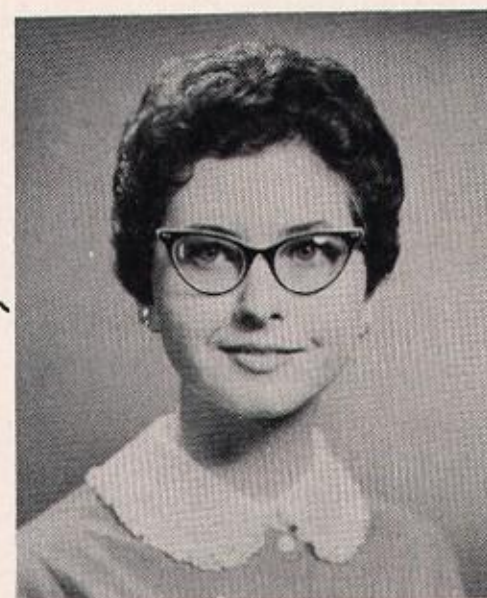

Below: As Barrett angrily admonishes Henrietta for kissing Captain Cook, Elizabeth rushes in to her defense. The argument that follows brings other members of the family and their friends to the room.

Dear Joyce;

You've been swell, & I sincerely hope there's a great future in store for you. Don't forget lovely "102" &

What is it about college life that entices and beckons more and more to attend each year! Could it be the challenge, the excitement, the culture, the education of college life?

The "friendliest college in the Southwest" strives to solve these questions with a wholesome schedule of studies, sports, and social and spiritual activities. OLL offers to its students the following accreditations: B.A., B.S., M.S., in Social Work, and M.A. in Education. Courses terminating in a B.A. or B.S. from OLL are:

- Arts and Sciences
- Business Administration
- Teacher Training
- Fine Arts
- Home Economics
- Physical Education
- Library Science

Lady of the Lake College Expands: Dormitory Commemorates Pope Pius XII

As each year brings an increase in college enrollment, Our Lady of the Lake College is expanding to accommodate the needs of her students. Pacelli Hall, the new dormitory, is under construction and is scheduled to be finished in time for the 1959 fall semester.

The new dormitory name was selected in honor of Pope Pius XII, during whose reign Blessed John Martin Moye, founder of the Sisters of Divine Providence, was beatified.

Hi Joyce -

Looks like we're coming closer to that graduation day -
 (at last) Here's wishing you all the best of things in the future - Stay sweet and you'll always go places successfully - Always

Dear Joyce,
 The last 12 years
 have been lots of fun!
 And very rewarding.
 I hope we continue to meet each other now & then. And I hope you have a wonderful career in whatever you plan. Love,
 Linda

Howdy,
 I thought that I would be different as usual. It has been wonderful knowing you these past 12 years. We have had fun together here and at S.M.S. We sure have had a "blast!" together in chemistry.
 Be sure and take next good care of yourself and may God bless you always.

Dear Joyce,
 Will always
 and remember you,
 you have sweet
 under "classmen".
 Stay as sweet as you are now! Best of luck in the future. Love,
 Mary Ka

I am so glad to hear from you. I am well and hope
 you are the same.

Hi Joyce —
 Remember:
 $\text{CaCO}_3 + \text{CO}_2 + \text{H}_2\text{O} \rightarrow \text{Ca}(\text{HCO}_3)_2$?
 How will we ever forget all the fabulous times we had in Chemistry? Good Luck in all you do. Don't forget to shed a tear for our dear ole senior class here!
 Love,
 Kitty Fischer

Best of luck to a real sweet girl
 & a good friend. Kathy & me

Dear Joyce
 Best of luck
 in all you do!

Hi Joyce

"We have found the road
we now begin our journey."

What a true motto. Because now we are out on our own.

Well it really been fun
being with you this year.

Stay sweet & may our friendship still remain

after graduation. God Bless you always!

Love

Mary Kathryn

Best of luck
& all. Joyce! I really can't squeeze too much in this space - so I'll just be hoping I'll see you here sometime. I'll remember me someday. Love

Dear Joyce,

I sure do hope you always have the best of everything.
Good luck with Business, too. I know when I was in the eighth grade, all of our class wanted each of us to get the best of everything. It surely has happened to Business - I guess he got one of the best when he got you! God bless you!

Love you muchly,

Joyce Hatcher

P.S. You didn't do so bad yourself, kid!!

Dear Joyce,
Sweetest
I wish always & always be sweet as you are today &
you will go gladly!

Love ya!
Jeanine

Dear Joyce

Hi! Jay
 whose I don't know but that's beside the point. Jay, I've really enjoyed knowing you and I'll never forget the fun we had during our P.E. class. Be good and May God bless you
 always. Signing offville,
 Love ya carts full

Best wishes and lots of luck to one of the cutest and sweetest girls I know. I have enjoyed knowing you
 for the past few years and I hope that we will remain the best of friends forever!
 Melvin

Dear Joyce,
 Best of luck in everything
 and may God bless you.
 Your friend always,
 Jay

Dear Joyce,
 It's been a long time since we started just grade together, hasn't it?
 It's been great years, though.
 Stay as cute and as sweet
 as you are! Love,
 Jay
